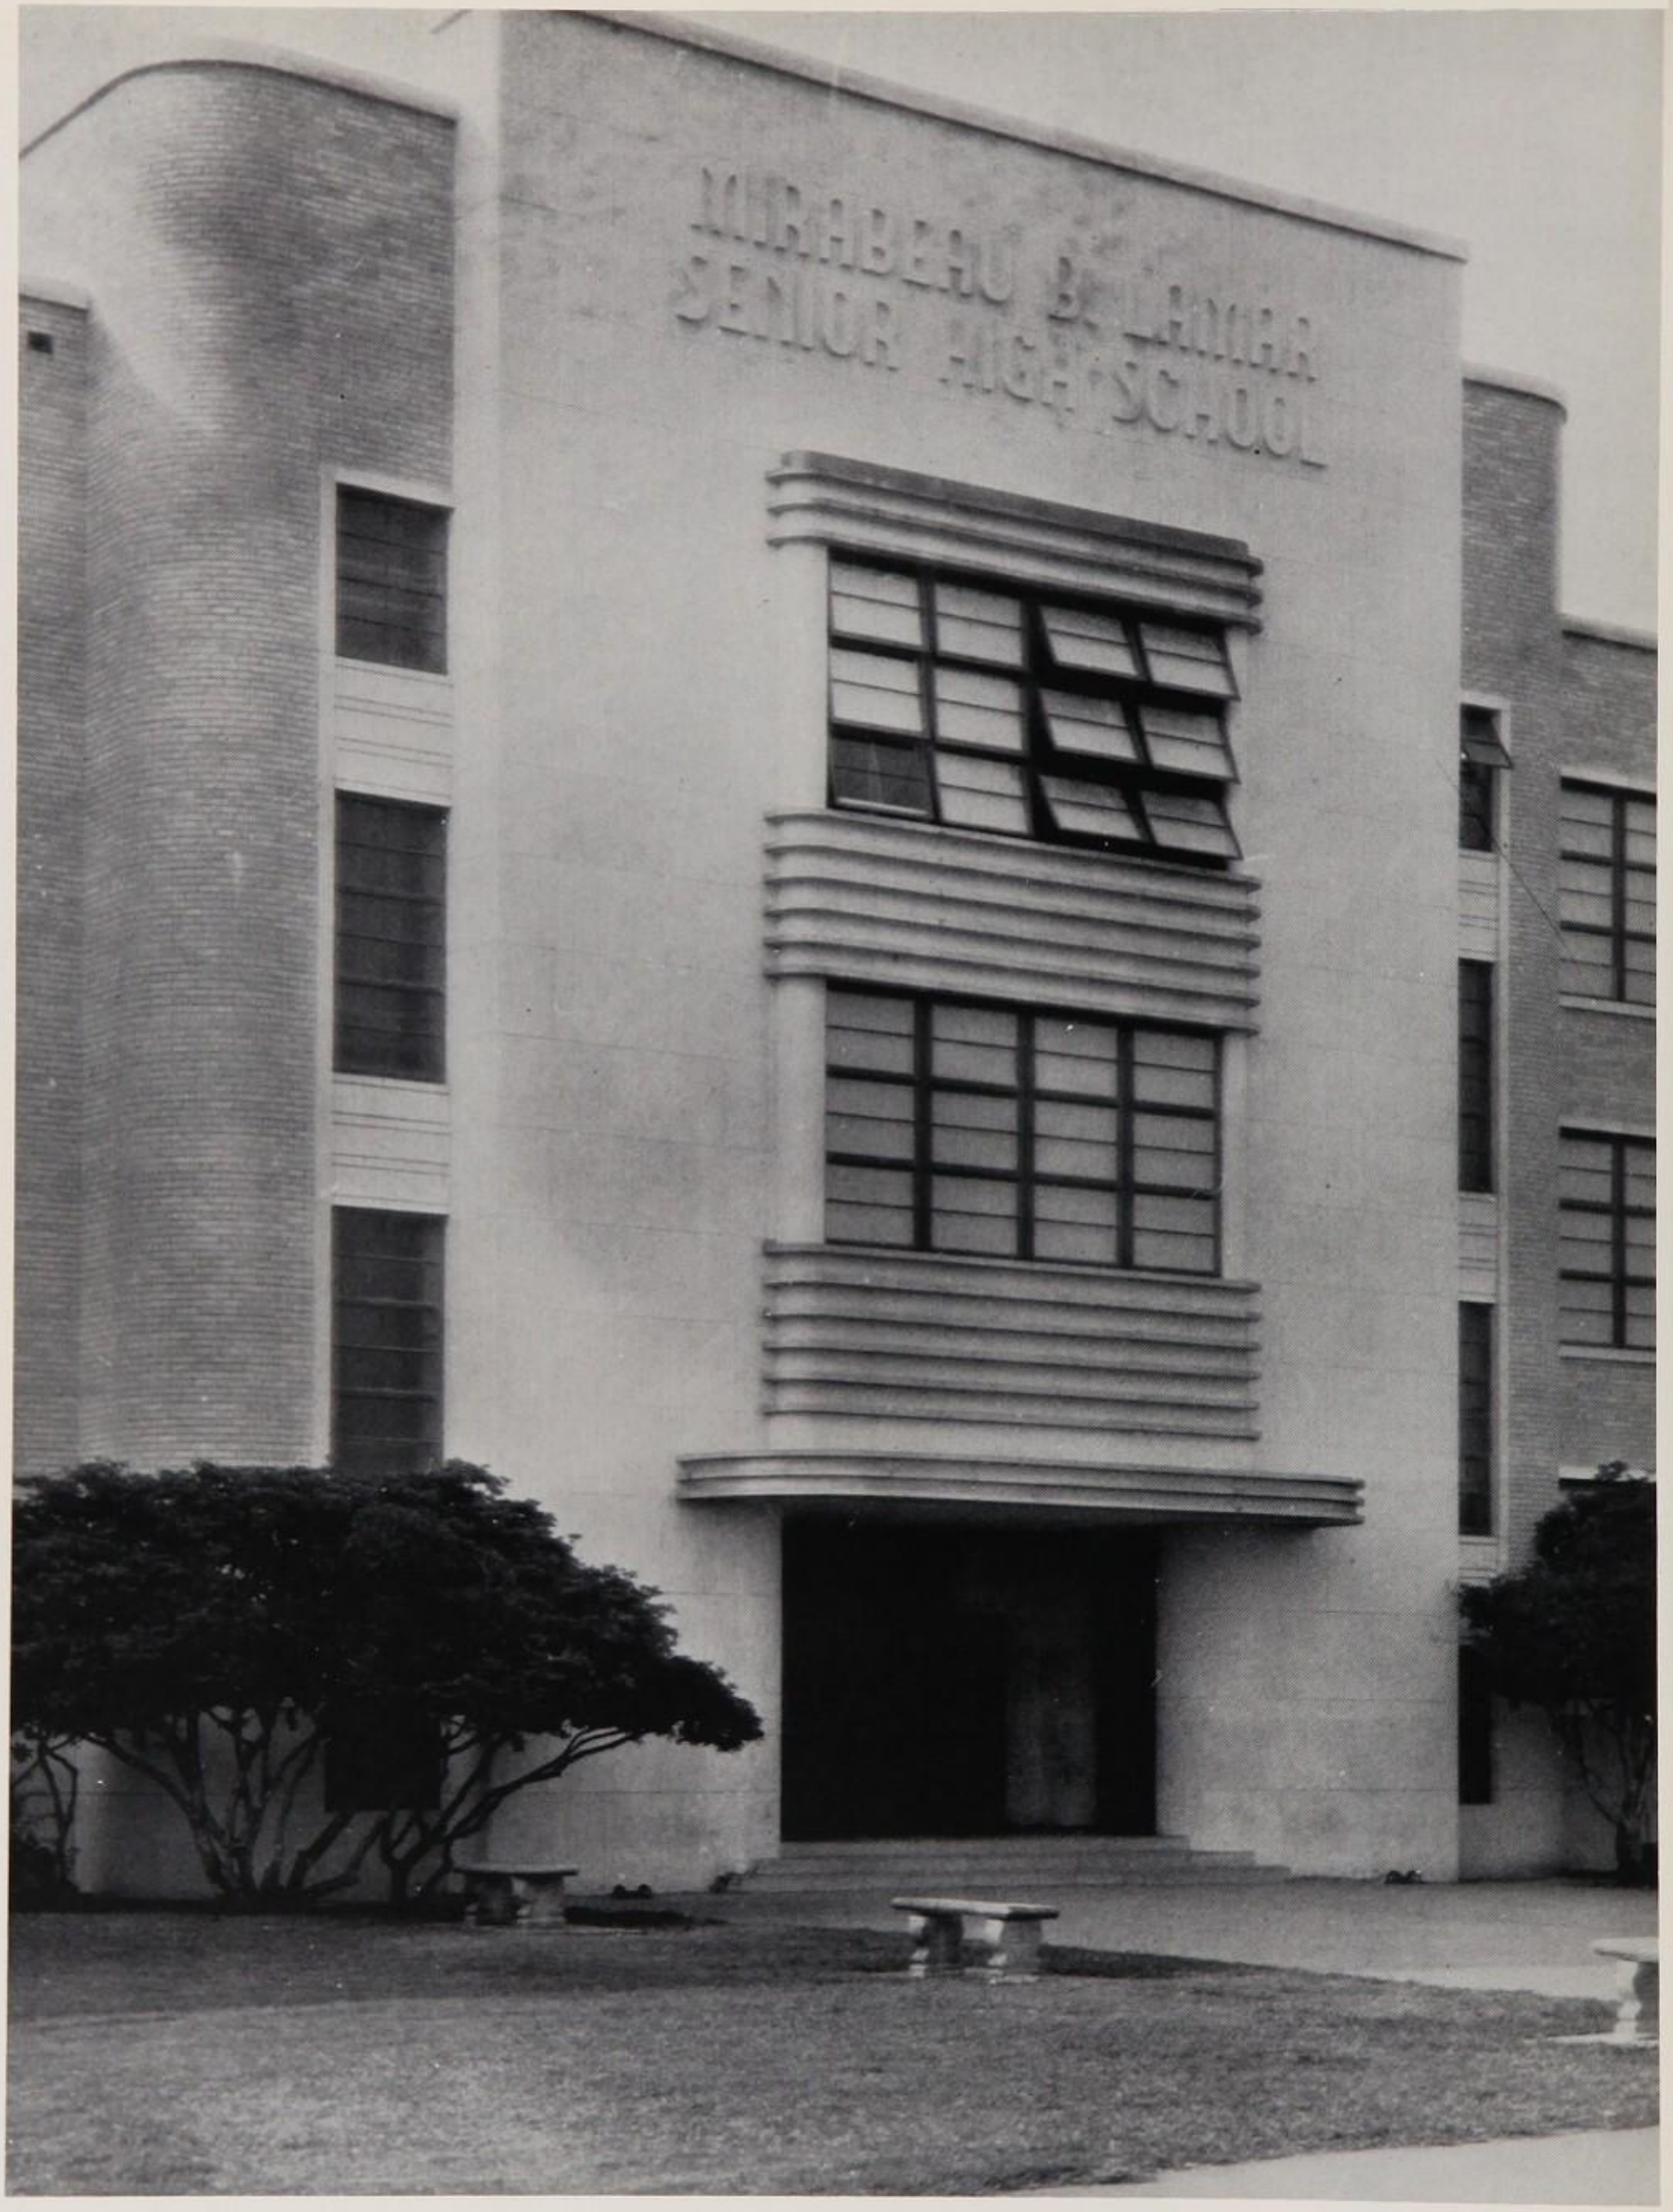
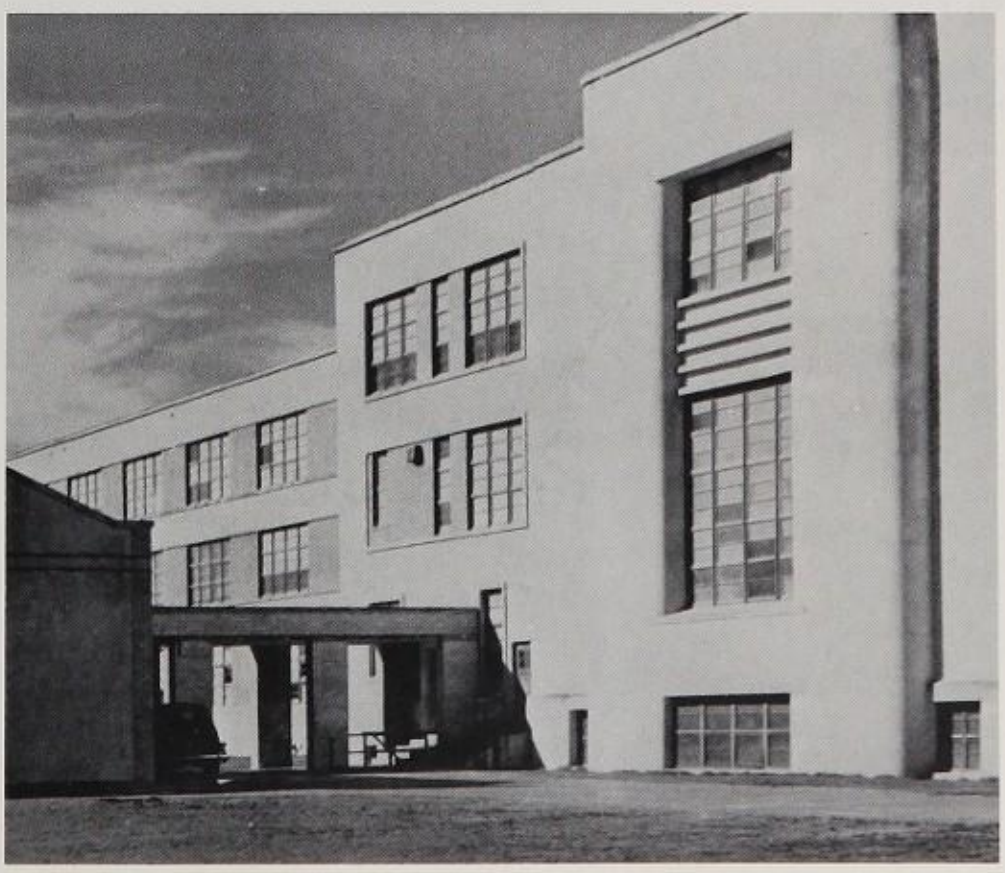
Mirabeau B. Lamar High School
Houston, Texas
Volume XXVI



The impressive main entrance of Mirabeau B. Lamar High School opens the door of opportunity for its many hundreds of students.

Beneath the map of the state of Texas, the doorways of the west wing open into the spacious Lamar auditorium.



Connecting the main building with the workshops, the rear corridor awaits the between-class activity.

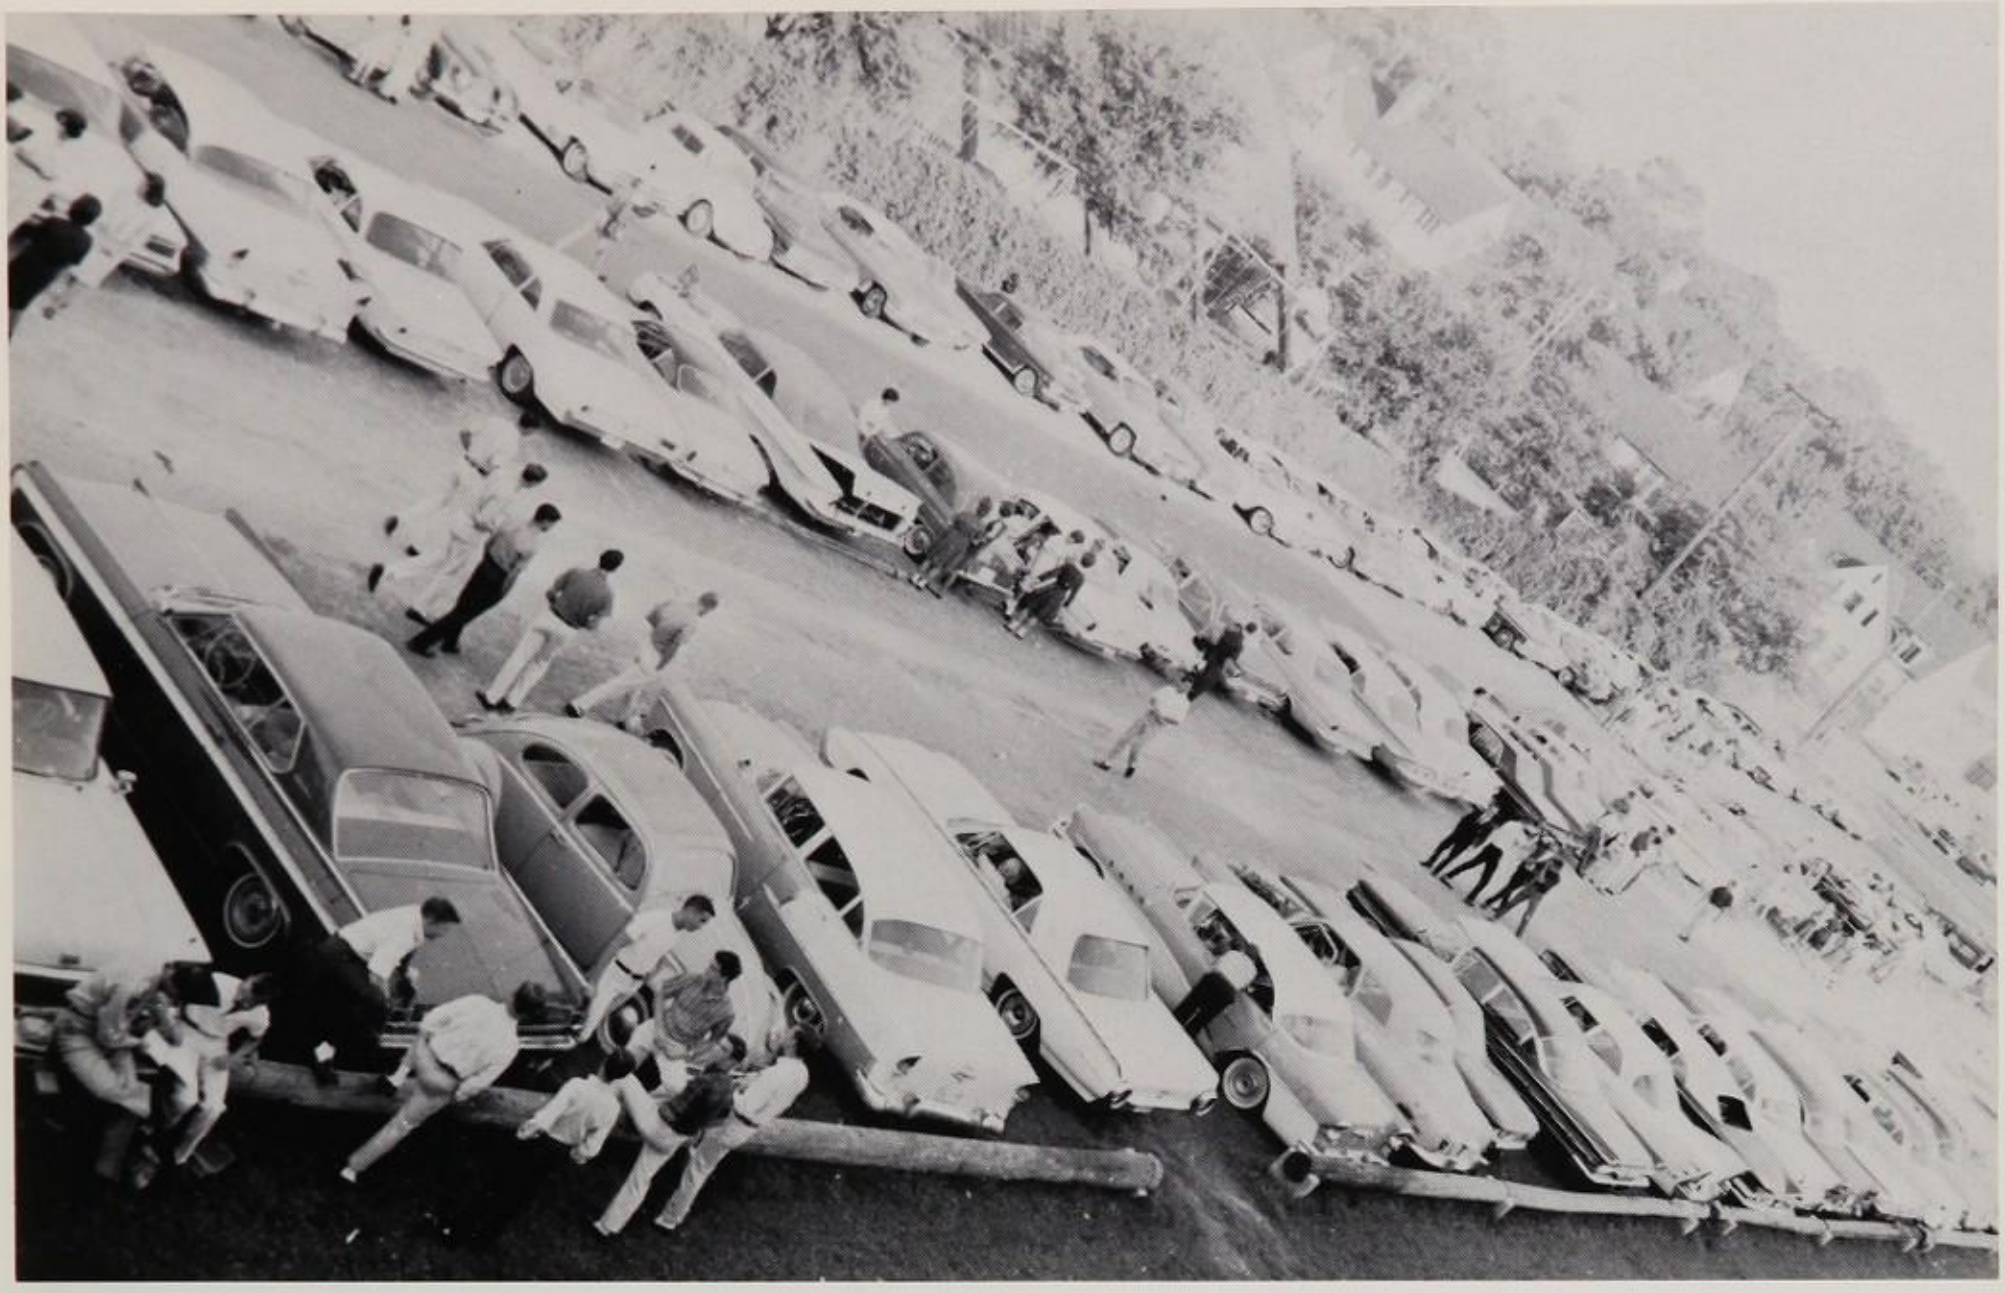
Life

From the confusing, distracting outside world, over two thousand students each year enter the doorways of Lamar to discover what it is that makes Lamar outstanding. One finds that the striking characteristic of the school is derived from the nature of its students. This characteristic is vitality. With his enrollment as a sophomore, the student faces three unforgettable years of challenge, of achievements and failures, of good times, and of growth. Through the student's close association both in and out of school with his fellow students, he finds psychological growth and social maturity. He learns to share his time, his talent, and his smile with those around him. Most important, he brings his own spark of individuality, adding to the spirit which is uniquely Lamar's.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y is the Sophomore Battle Cry!" New sophomores pick up Lamar's battle cry with great enthusiasm.

Fall Opens

Well, those sophomores get smaller every year! Mr. Calahan's children and friend are caught waiting for Mr. Calahan after school.



A parking place at 8:10? Are you kidding!

School Doors to . . .

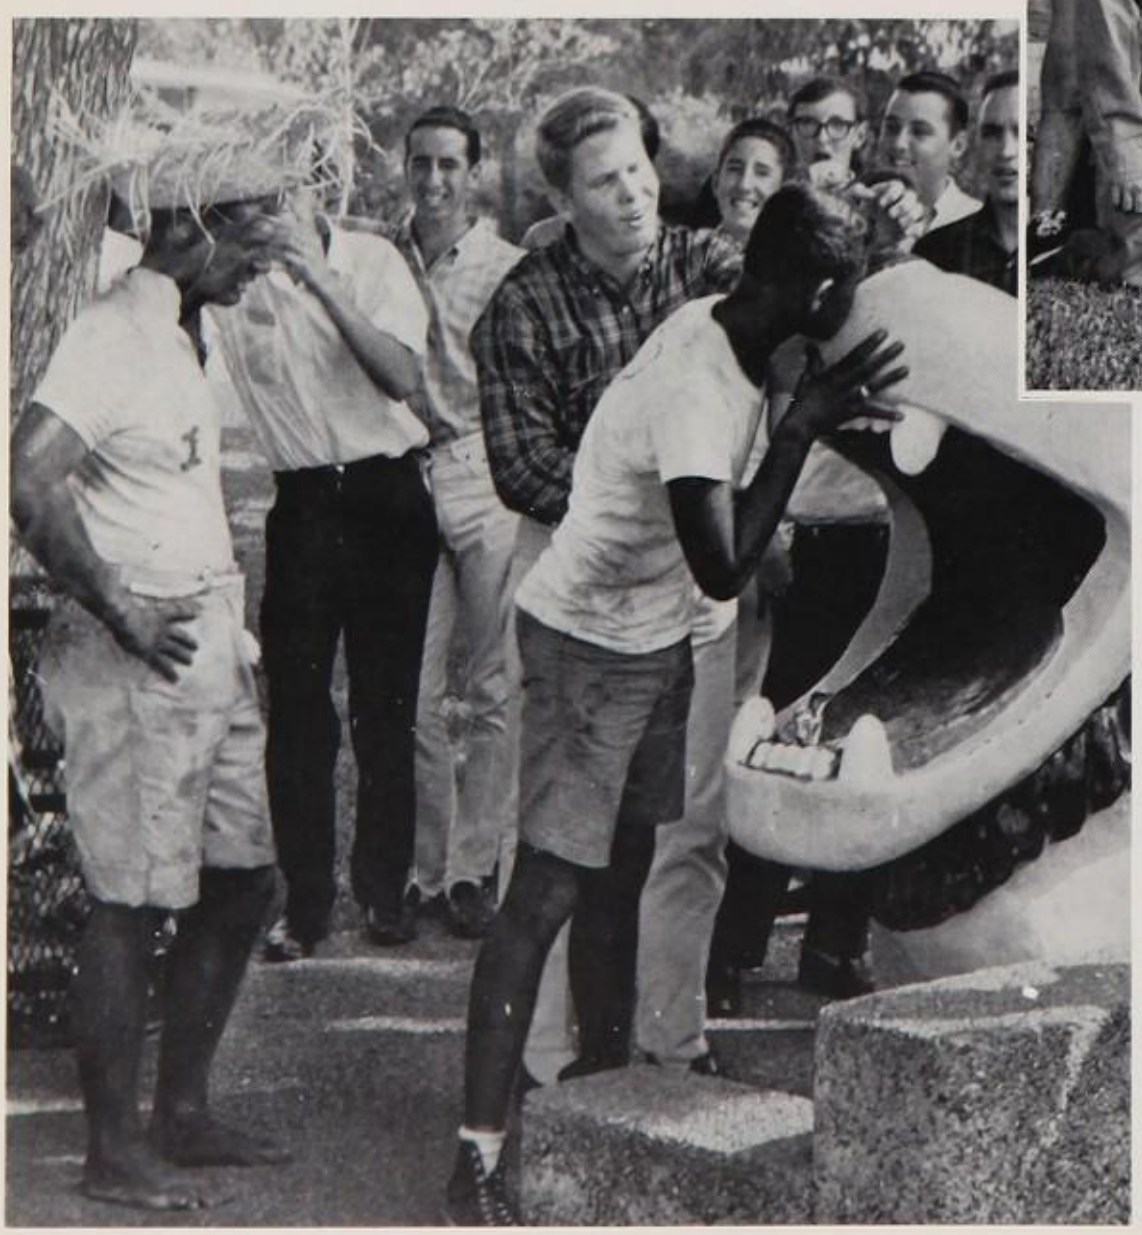
Part of Lamar's "Vette Set," Harvey Trammell, Suzanne Schindler, Gavin Smith, and Linda Jackson are seen with their riders Bobby Northrup, Jeff Suttles, Maurice Thomason and Sandy Wilson.

My arms are killing me! Sophomores Ginny Marye and Debbie Thomason find that biology and algebra books get heavy.

"O.K., you guys, you can let me off the horse now!" Marijo Lindsay seems to be having trouble with peons Bobby Anderson, Mickey Phair, Dillion Ferguson, and John Dorroh.

Initiations

"I now pronounce you man and wife." Mook Oltman marries Mook Temple to Mook Wilson at one of Mirabeau's informal get togethers.



"A-a-a-h, he's a nice lion, isn't he, Head?" Rick Niemi introduces a Head to the Houston Zoo lion on Irari's Club Safari.

Sadie Hawkins

"Oh, we never miss a Sadie Hawkins." Ma Bryan leads the clan (Susan Jones, Wright Bohlman, Melinda Morris, Clay McGuffey, and Ma's "date" Doug Craig) to the Sadie Hawkins dance.

"Yeah, none of that 'possum stew tonight." David Shannon and David Hamilton are led into Sonny Look's for a good "city" dinner by Cynthia Stone and Sarah Bell.

Football

Lamar students received a serenade from some "Reagan Beauties." Actually, they're Micki McClelland, Ann Ott, and Cynthia Hewitt, accompanied by Mike Darley.

The "Legs" of Lamar prepare to "bust out" for their weekly battle.

A great help to the cheerleaders is "Little Red." Here, this year's Little Red, Roy Collins, leads the "Skins to the field."

Providing excellent entertainment before the games and at half times is Lamar's fine marching band, with twirlers.

Florence Wells and Prissy Fullilove show their elation at having already "acquired" letter sweaters for Letter Sweater Day as Meredith Ball seems to be relieving Jack Hoover of his.

Homecoming

Barbara Krause shows Sid Kurbo and Charlene Lusk how Bellaire just couldn't quite get Big Red's nose out of the door in their attempt to steal him.

Roland Sledge, Lamar's secret weapon for Bellaire, gives a sneak preview of his intentions for Bellaire. Jerry Converse, Sandy Wilson, Debbie Elliott, Mary Wells, and Mike Olvey also display their opinions.

Lamar's spirit runs high for the up-coming Homecoming Game with Bellaire. Here, Lamar students pack the auditorium, and under a maze of crepe paper streamers and paintings of their favorite players begin the biggest Pep Rally of the year.

Who says Lamar's Faculty is for the Birds? Mr. Milsap and Mrs. Wisdom lead members of the Faculty as they present the "Belles" annual visit to Lamar.

On the night before the Big Night, many of Lamar's students were seen at Lissa Nalle's house for the beginning of the march on River Oaks Blvd. Here, Woody Hoskins, Debbie Thomason, Julia Prokop, Debbie Elliot, (hiding behind Marijo Lindsay's arm) and Roy Bowen are all backed up by the band and Cheerleader Doug Craig.

A Queen

Although the elements weren't with her, the votes were. Sharon Haralson, raincoated and under an umbrella, stands with her escort Roland Sledge. She is holding the red roses signifying she is Homecoming Queen of 1963-64.

A new innovation at Lamar is the Tali Shiloha Bell Ringers sponsored by Mrs. Lowder. Here practicing are Suzanne Debo, Ann Jones, Judy Allen, Harriet McCleary and Toni Girard, led by Mrs. Lowder.

and New Productions

Kay Hankinson does a good job of showing disgust (as her part demands) for Candy Tovar, who seems to hold the attention of Stanton Mazza, Robert Westheimer and Dena Zachariah. Much of this practice went into the drama department's presentation of The Homecoming.

Suzanne Kamrath and Jane Park laugh as they think of the "joy?" each of their mothers will have when they see the girls' new Christmas decorations, made in crafts. Behind them, supervising the job, are Eddie Orlando and Tommie Rumsey.

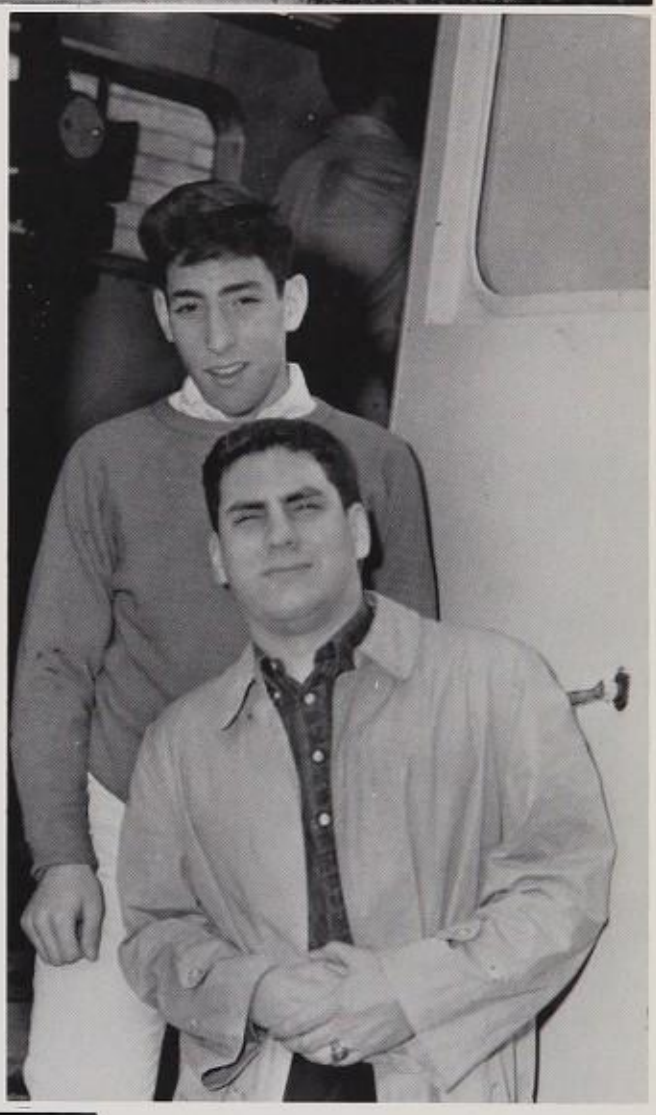
Winter Opens the Door to Christmas

Becky, did you say your hair needs a new "frost" job? If so, Sharon Haralson will be glad to "let you have it." Jean Toole and Shirley Morgan seem to be ready to forget the Christmas cookies, too, if Sharon should need help.

A Christmas spirit urges Spanish class members to make piñatas. Showing off their work are Monica Bell, Carl Skipper, Sara Yeager, Sharon Stephens and Nancy Grubbs.

Everyone loves the "unfortunate" break in classes provided by the fire drill, even on cold days.

Routine Activities



"Yes, as I see it, dear Rick is in bad shape." Maurice Ende and Rick Lasser leave the X-Ray van with calculating faces.

"Hey, slow down!" Melinda Morris seems to be having trouble spelling Gregg Hovas's name for the Orenda records. It was club-picture day.

"Egads, that is a nasty looking revolver." Bill McDugald seems somewhat disturbed at Doug Craig's "persuader." Surrounding them is the cast of the Mirabeau Melodrama: Suzanne Kamrath, Susan Pace, Sharon Stephens, a surprised Sherry Spradley, Prissy Fullilove and Robert Greenwood.

Student Productions

The student production, under the supervision of Mrs. Denny, of The Wizard of Oz was a highlight of the winter. The cast stop rehearsal to give hint of their parts.

"A million a day say . . . the B.F.G's were the best in the Hootenanny sponsored by the Lamar athletic department."

Your time is runnin' out! It's to the rodeo or death. Lamar cheerleader Bobby Hellbusch politely procures a date to the rodeo with Barbara Young.

Cow Town U.S.A.

Oh, it's okay; they get excited like this every year about now. It's only because of the Rodeo. Bobby Northrup, Sallie Barry, Gary "Hang Around" Mabray, Mary Lea Lamkin, Dicky "The Hangman" Nelms, Susie Lucas, Scott Peden and Daryl Miller get into the western spirit.

Spring Opens Doors to Parties

Another big spring party was a "Roaring 20's" party given by Sherry Spradley, Mary Lea Lamkin, Sandra Lester, Sallie Barry, Daryl Miller, Jean Toole, and (not pictured) Mary Beth Burns, Vicki Day, Belle Drye, Laurie Montgomery, Jan Alexander and Sharon Stephens.

"But I know they're in here somewhere." Lilly Kucera just can't understand where her car keys are. She has found about everything else.

Frustration and Elation

Cold or not, everybody went wild when a late snow hit Houston. Among those enjoying this rare event are Jackie Marr, Sandra Lester, Roland Sledge, Kester Denman, Joan Unger, Mary Anne Muckley, Lilly Kucera and Terry Tunks.

"My section is due today and the typewriter won't work!" Of course, all typist Mary Dee Neal and Girls' Sports Editor Sarah Mendell have to do is plug it in; but let them figure that out. They're fun to watch!

Deadlines and Valentines

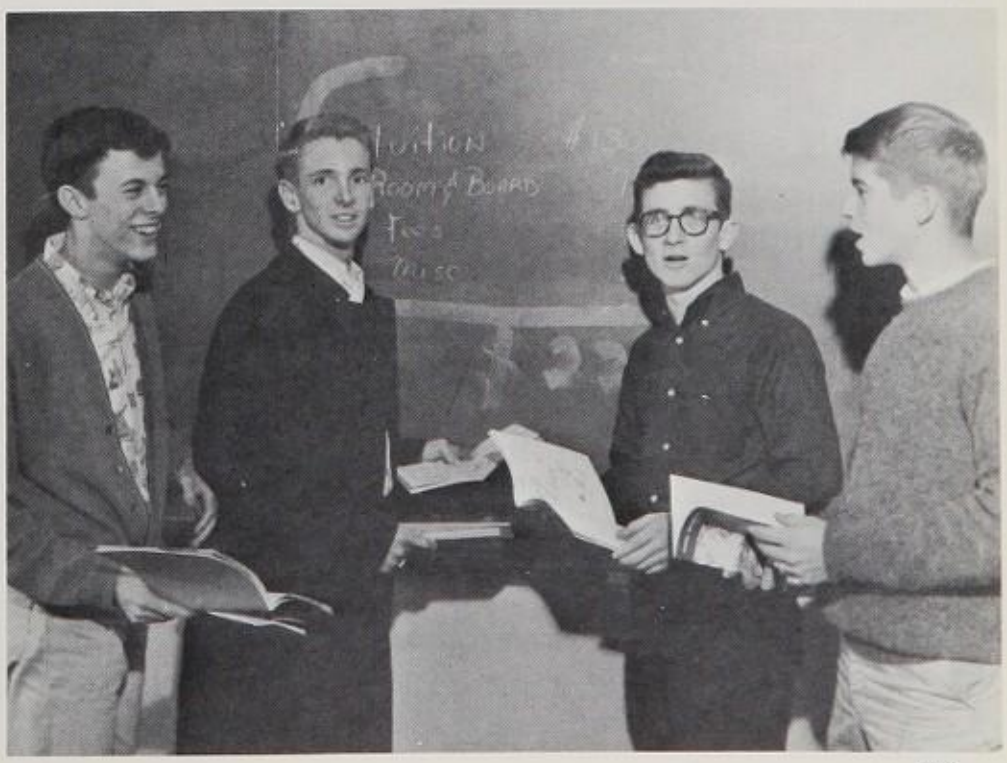
"Oh, won't you be my Valentine, and I will love you all the time." Judy Norwood listens closely as Ann Lee and Elizabeth Creeger present her Niwauna Singing Valentine to her.

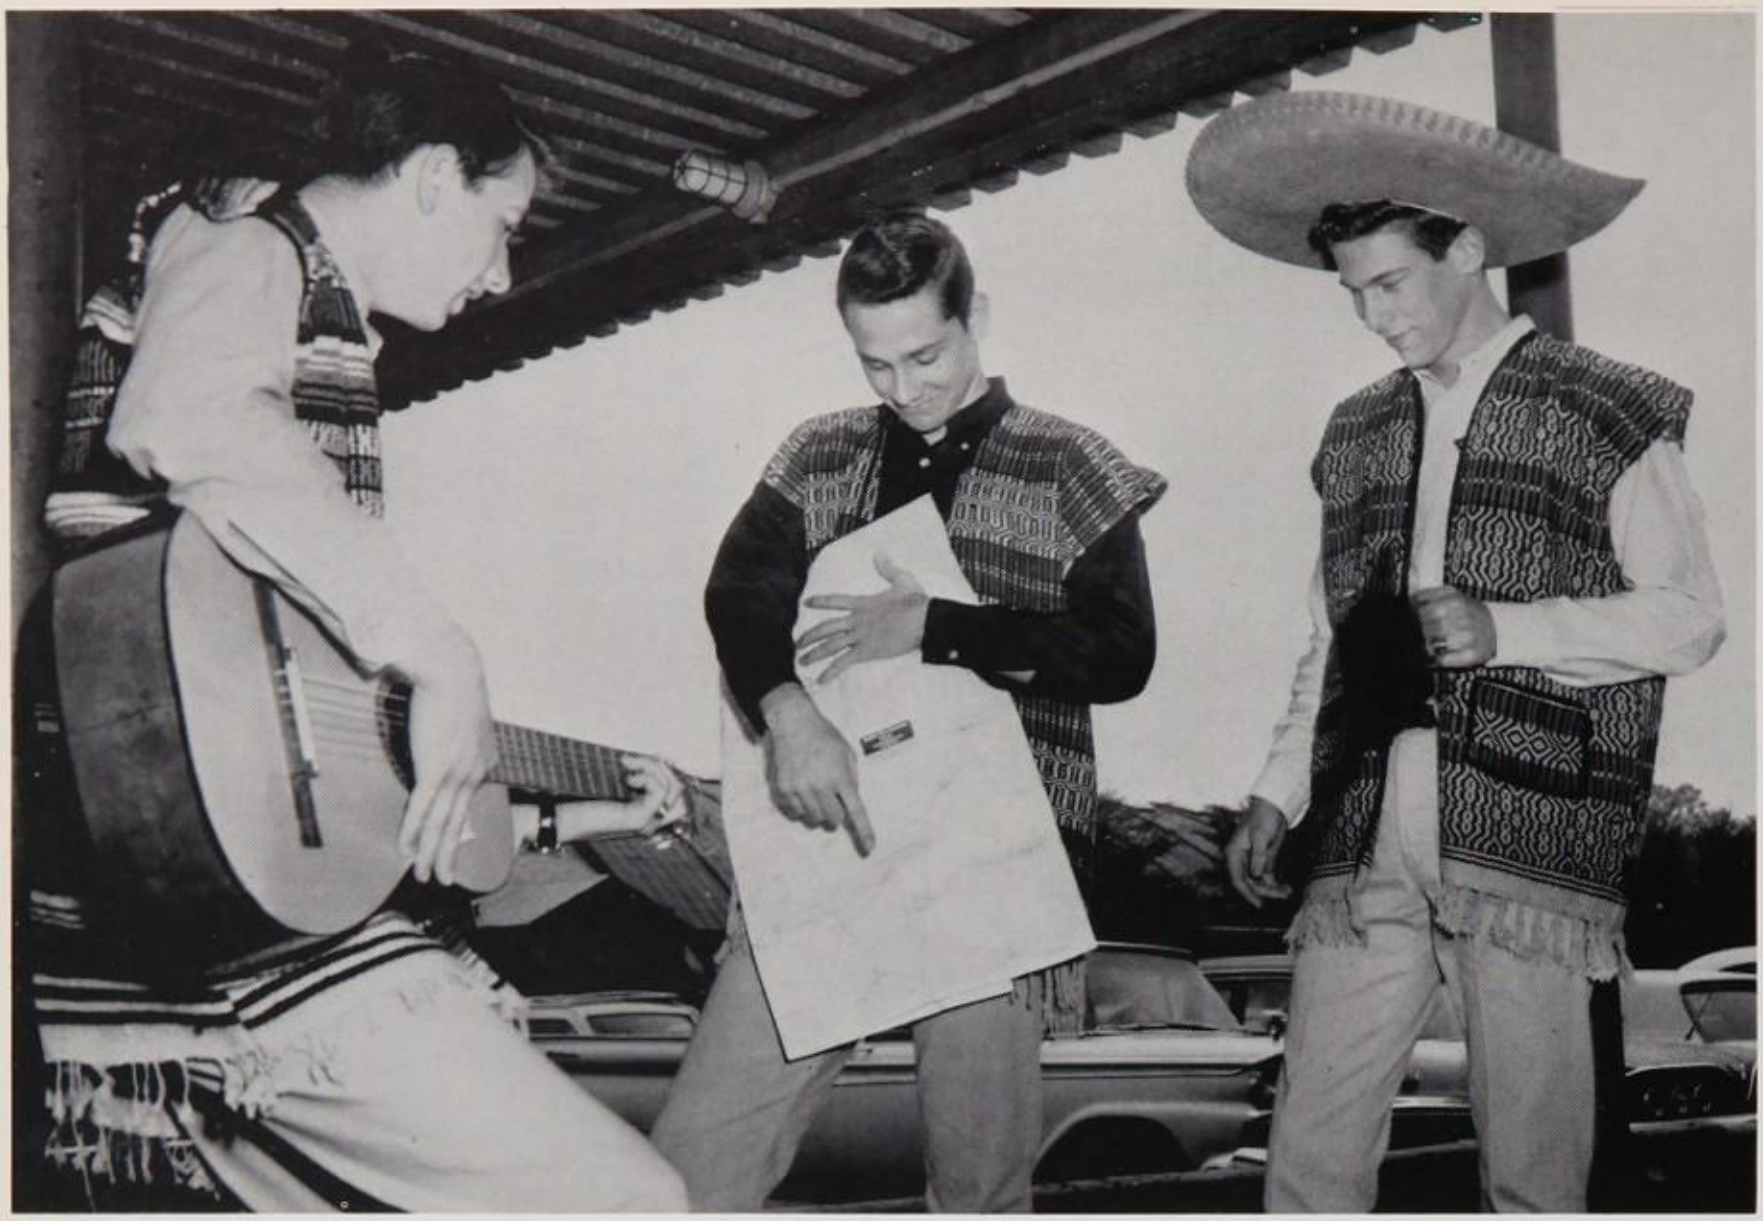
For the first time the June graduating class gathers to order invitations and find out the dates of the Prom, Commencement, Baccalaureate, and . . .

Senior Activities

Senior Bicycle Day! This is the day when all seniors try their skill on the two-wheeler. Lissa Nalle, Linda Baldwin, Marianne Bornefeld, Corless Beasley and Marilee Herren appear to have sufficiently remembered all the things necessary to ride a bike.

One of the biggest worries that presents itself to a senior is where he will attend college. Engrossed in this discussion of costs, advantages and so forth are Dave McNeill, Ashley Smith, Dirk Bennett and Steve Crump.





While Jeff Suttles provides appropriate music, Bill Wheless points out to Gene Werlin the route for Mexico.

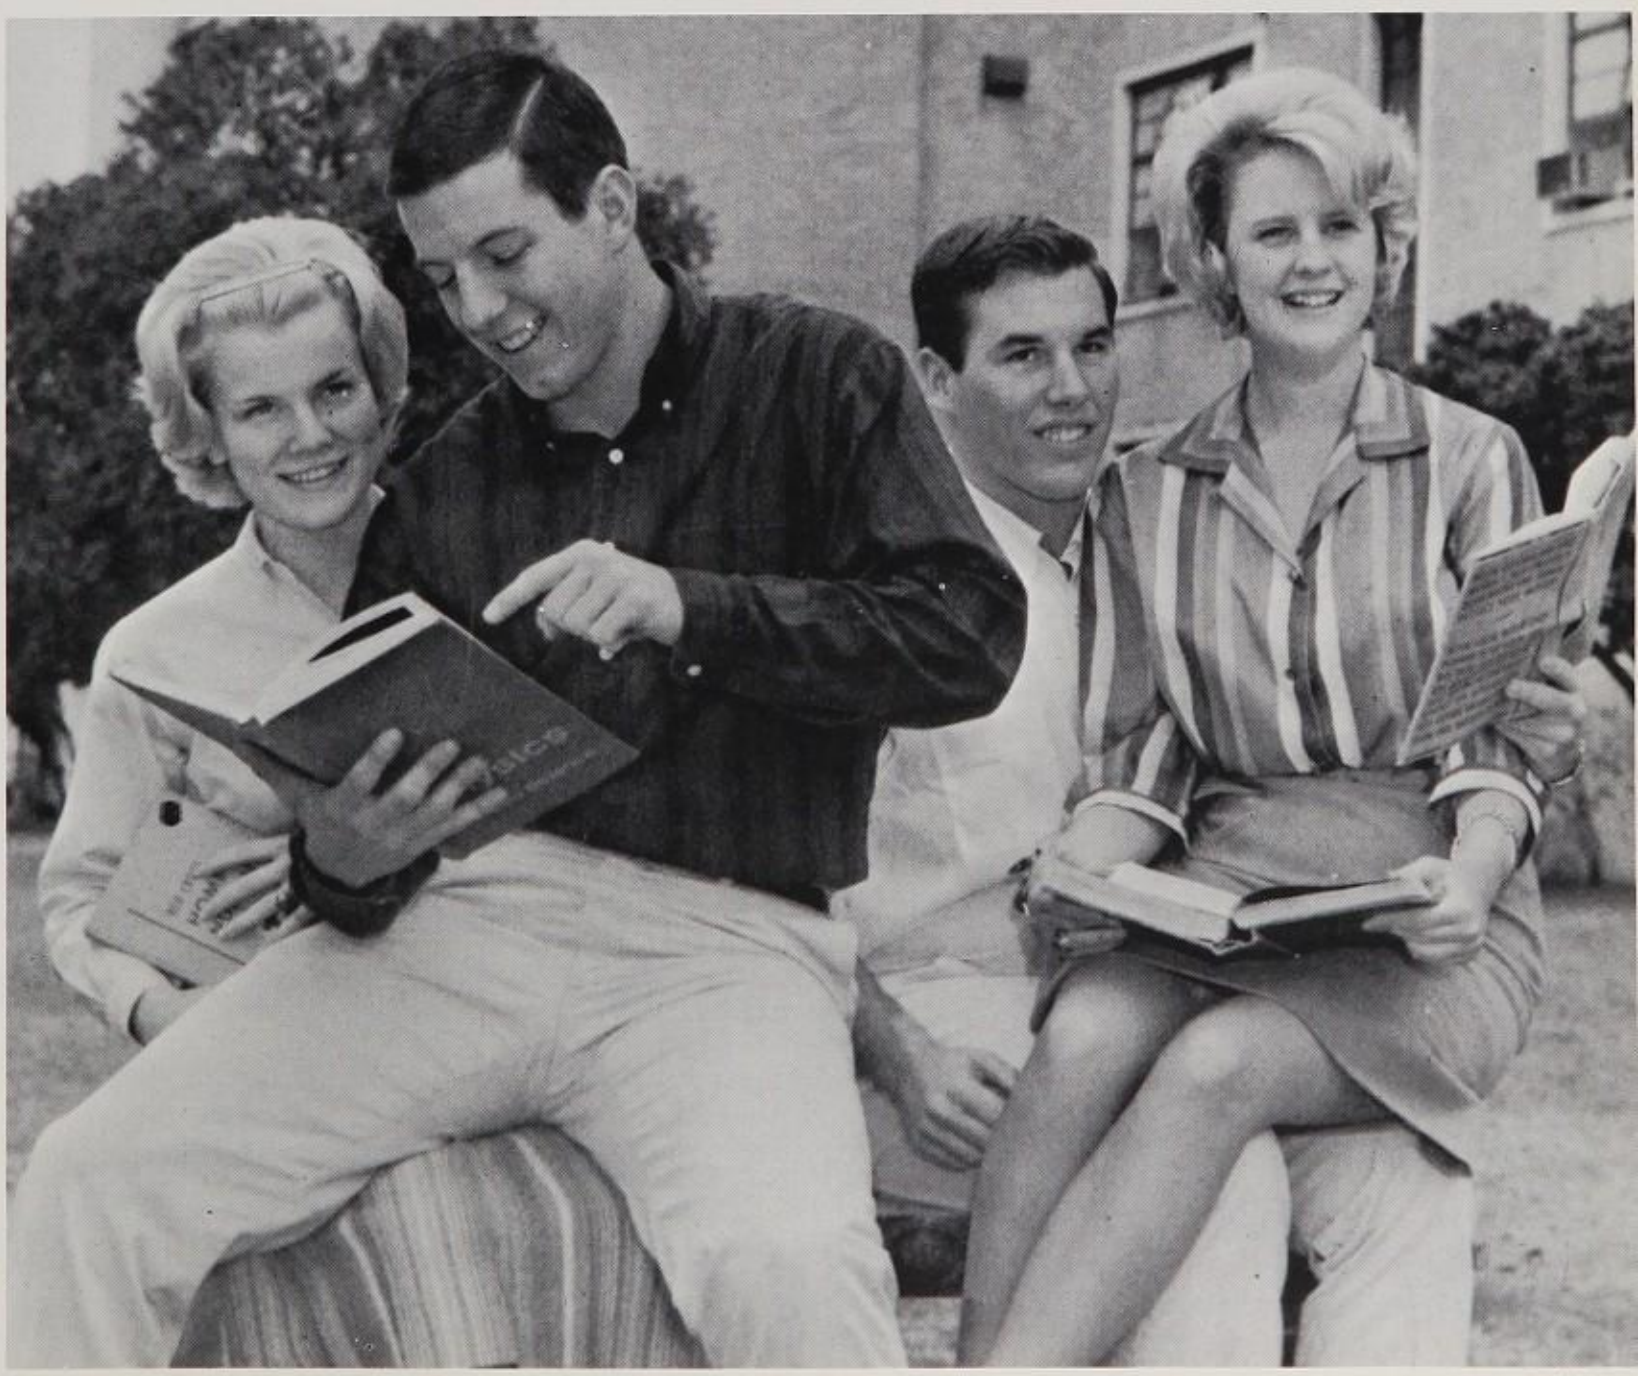
Soothing Trips

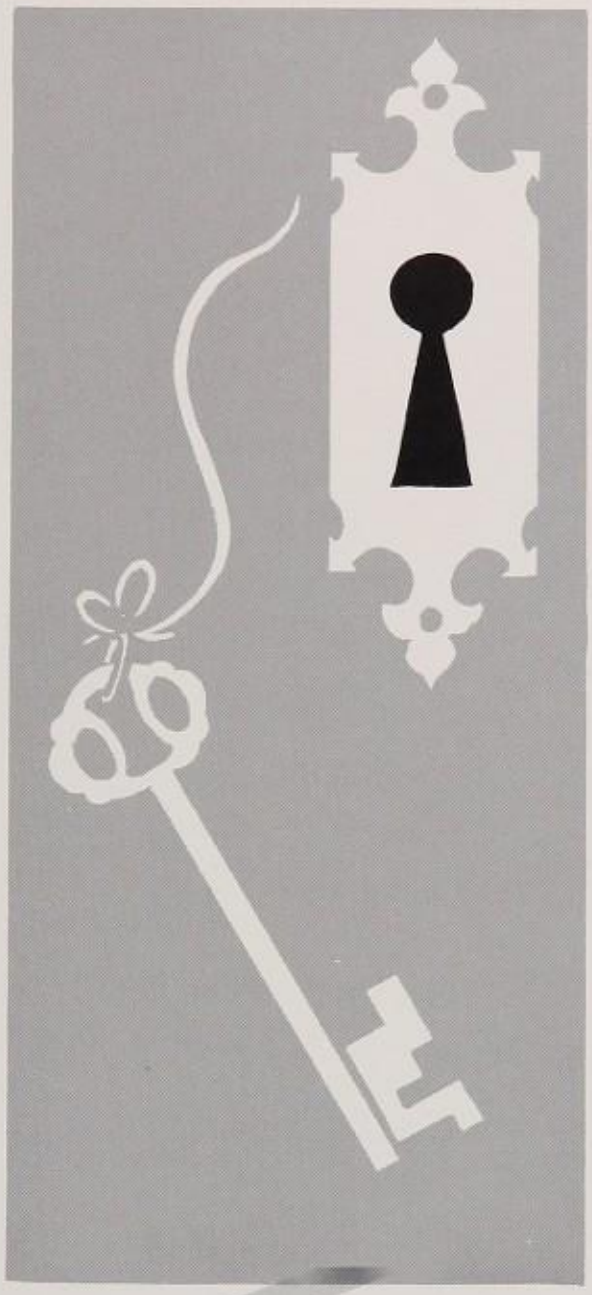
"Look out, James! Here we come." There's no doubt where Roy Bowen, Skipper Beery, Roland Sledge, Woody Hoskins and Kester Denman are headed or who they are off to hear. Round-Up at U.T. is a big event for Lamar.

"How do you expect me to study with weather like this!" Gavin Smith, Allen Grassedonio, Ronnie Dillee, Kathleen Richardson, Wendie Bettcher, Kathleen Lewis and Bobby Anderson seem to have contracted small cases of spring fever.

and the End of the Year

Finals always bring sad faces, but Barbara Krause, Johnny Strater, Jim Gudenrath and Stella Allen have found a better—well, at least, happier—way to study.





Limelight

Against the doorways of Lamar are silhouetted those persons who, through superior achievement or outstanding characteristics, have made their mark upon their school. Admired by faculty and student body, this handful represents the best that is within every person at Lamar—beauty, friendliness, courtesy, intelligence, and skill. Although focusing on a few in the light, the doorways of Lamar offer opportunities for excellence to all who are a part of the school. Each student makes his imprint in the clay of Lamar tradition. Each student, through his actions outside of school, represents to his community the spirit of Lamar. He can put Lamar in the limelight.

Mr. Ashley Smith

Houston, Texas

Dear Mr. Smith:

Quite frankly I am very sorry I agreed to choose the prettiest gals of Lamar High School. I have labored long and hard over my selections and still think it is unfair to ask anyone to pick the outstanding beauties from such a lovely group of young women.

Reluctantly I have made my choice, and they are as follows:

1.	No. 29	Cyd Curba
2.	No. 50	Shirley Revis
3.	No. 89	Pat Doherty
4.	No. 62	Ann Bader
5.	No. 60	Julia Pillkop
6.	No. 27	Nancy Fowler
7.	No. 33	Vicki Day
8.	No. 13	Daryl Miller Wilson

I must hasten to point out, however, that it is rare that I have ever seen such a collection of clean, fresh young American beauties.

All my best wishes to the contestants and I would like to wish each and every one of them success and happiness.

Your friend,

Jerry Lewis

Each year, a beauty contest is conducted by the Orenda staff in which any girl who has not been a winner in a previous contest may submit a picture. In January, over a hundred photographs were turned in for judging. Mr. Jerry Lewis, one of our nation's most beloved comedians, selected what he considered to be Lamar's most beautiful girl and seven other beauties.

January

Most Popular

Beaming with popularity, Jim Nelson and Billie Jean Curtner display the smiles that won them the honor of being Most Popular students of the January graduating class.

Most Representative

Selected by their teachers on the basis of achievement and initiative, Steve Cummings and Cris Williams are the Most Representative members of their January graduating class.

June

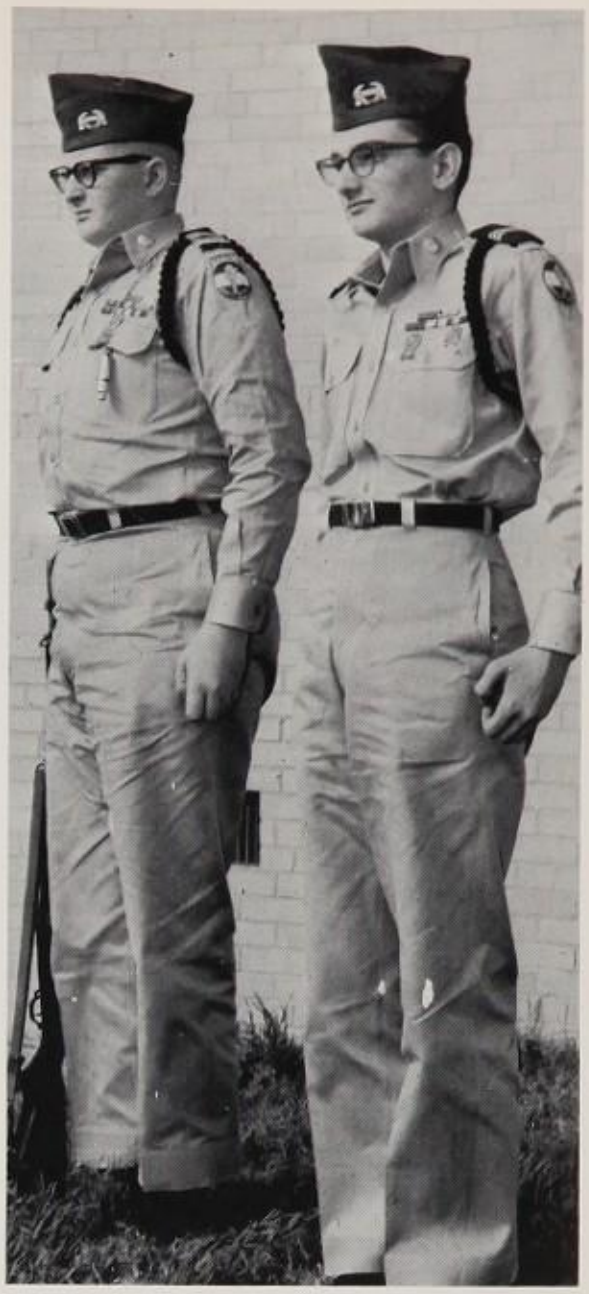
Most Popular

Sharon Haralson and Harold Dantone are Mr. and Miss "Popularity Plus" as voted by the Senior Class of 1964.

Most Representative

Seen browsing through the Who's Who in America are Dan Hedges and Corless Beasley, Most Representative Boy and Girl of this year's graduating class.

It's raining honors on Poet Meredith Ball, Lawyer Chip Werlein, Chaplain Prissy Fullilove, and Prophet Lyn Bracewell—officers of the June graduating class.



Henry Coram and David Bottrell are only two examples of our outstanding ROTC. They were awarded the Manual of Arms Award and Best Dressed Cadet Award, respectively, for the 1963-64 school year.

Sherman Glass, sophomore, placed first in the city Americanism Essay Contest, sponsored by the Samuel Sorrell Chapter, N.S., Daughters of the American Revolution.

Constancy

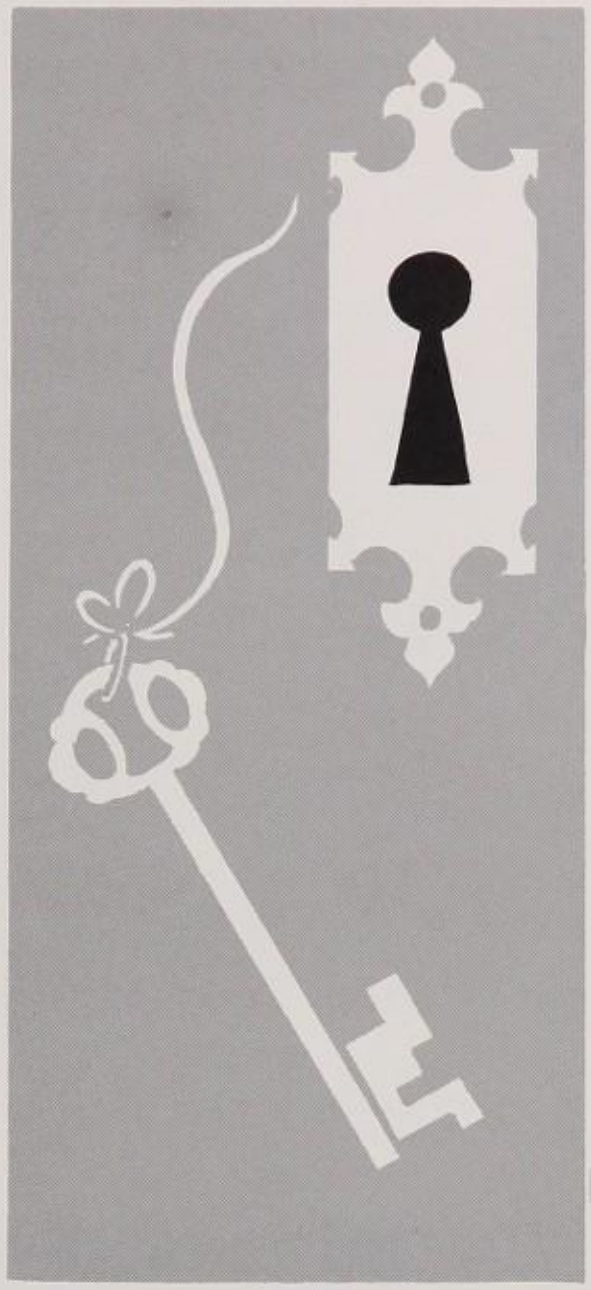
Mike Journeay, Lamar graduate, was selected during the summer of 1963 for the American Field Service Americans Abroad Program. Representing Lamar as a former 5.0 student, Mike will complete a year of studies at Konigswinter

Mr. Foster holds the trophy received by Jerry Cash, John Birdsell and Joe Cutler at the Sam Houston State Band Contest. They are three members of a winning all-star octet.

Grammar students Dan Hedges and Grady Hughes represented Lamar as winners in the National Council of Teachers of English contest. They also made exceptional scores of better than 750 on the College Board Achievement tests in English Composition.

to Purpose

Susan Jewell and Jim Kalpaxis, Ramal and Tawasi recipients, congratulate each other with a handshake. After being nominated by the homeroom sections, they were selected by a faculty committee as most outstanding Junior Girl and Bov.



Activities

The door to real education is not always opened by a textbook. Often the most lasting educational effects of a school are produced by its extracurricular activities, yardsticks of Lamar's enthusiasm. Through these organizations, the student is confronted with new ideas and experiences which test his maturity and broaden his understanding. The numerous social clubs, service organizations, and honorary societies at Lamar teach their members the joys of companionship, the rewards of generosity, and the satisfaction of achievement. These activities constitute the sui que non for the well-rounded student, one who participates actively and makes his contribution to Lamar.

Representative

Providing the important link between teachers and students is the Student Council. Representing the "voice of the people," members of the Student Council are elected by their homerooms. The representatives report all major decisions to their homerooms.

The only club at Lamar entirely devoted to service, the Student Council publishes the Student Directory, conducts all school elections, such as the May Fete Court and class officers, and handles Orenda sales.

The Council functions on a committee basis, organized by the president. Among the standing committees are the election committee, the homecoming committee, and the building and grounds committee.

Sorry, girls, just one to a customer—Oh, but these are Student Council Representatives! Ginger Cramer and Nancy Hervey are helping distribute the student directories to the homerooms.

Perhaps Lamar's most striking and well-remembered program this year was "Operation Teen-Ager," sponsored by the National Honor Society. Having learned from their own experiences, four inmates from Huntsville State Prison emphasized the need for good citizenship and a sense of responsibility.

More than a scholastic honor society, the club encourages high standards of scholarship, leadership, and service. Not more than five per cent of high juniors, low seniors, and high seniors may be elected to membership.

The highest honor to which a student of Lamar can aspire is membership in Arrowhead, the Senior Honor Society. Only seniors with a 4.6 average and excellent conduct are eligible. This standard must be maintained throughout membership. Members are elected in the fall semester by a faculty board.

Arrowhead members are conspicuous in their willingness to serve Lamar. From the profits of their sale of automobile stickers and bookcovers, they contribute to the improvement of school facilities.

Each year at Commencement the Arrowhead award, a silver cup, is presented to the most outstanding member of Arrowhead. Last year David Harvin received the award.

The Book Must Come Out

Business Editor Tommy Rodgers receives, with closed eyes, pictures he hopes Clare Smith and Mary Jane Albrecht have finally alphabetized.

In mid-spring the last Orenda pages go to press, leaving in their wake an exhausted staff. With deadlines met and pages in, the editor-in-chief, the section editors and assistants, the photographers, and the typist wait hopefully for the new annual, the permanent record of the year's activities. In the business office, the manager and his assistants have finally straightened accounts after collecting the thousands of dollars involved in publishing an Orenda. The staff hopes these months of frantic activity result in an outstanding yearbook which will be received enthusiastically by the critical judges of leading universities and by the Lamar student body, for which it is produced. Mrs. Iris Loep sponsors the editorial staff and Miss Helen Weinberg, the business staff.

Writing receipts brings many moods to Business Staff members Sara Yeager, Florence Wells, and Tetine Sentell!

"This vertical picture just has to be horizontal," says Prissy Fullilove, Senior Class editor, as she crops her pictures.

Life Editor Jerry Converse is eager to go to work, but somehow he just can't open that file.

Typist Mary Dee Neal has almost too much enthusiasm for her job!

Teamwork gets the job done for Club Editor Melinda Morris and assistant Mary Wells.

"It's impossible," says Sarah Mendell. She just can't see how Doug Craig got the boys' basketball pictures mixed up with the girls' pictures.

Meredith Ball, Faculty Editor, is quite relieved to find enough space for all of Lamar's outstanding teachers.

Get Those Articles in

These assistants (from left) Robert Greenwood, Tommy Dill, Judy Gordon, Bill McDougald, Jeri Cole and Fred Bland, all seem to take their jobs on the Lancer staff very seriously, except maybe for Judy Gordon.

Comparing the Lancer with other school papers are the various editors (from left) Jimmy Kalpaxis, Gay Veltmann, Evelyn Crawford, Bobby Anderson, David Amidon and Kitty Russell.

Probably gossiping under the pretense of work are managers Donna Woodward, Nancy Frazier and Cheryl Hanson.

Photographer Charlie Blanton interrupts the endless work of typist Kathy Hackmann to show her what he considers one of his masterpieces.

These reporters are the "unsung heroes" of the Lancer, for without the news which they collect the paper would never come to press.

Creative Journalists

To encourage individual achievement in journalism is the aim of Quill and Scroll. As the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, Quill and Scroll accepts only those students having outstanding scholarships and journalism records, earned through work either on the school paper or on the yearbook. Members must be juniors at least and be recommended by an adviser. Officers are installed at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet.

The Artisans are Lamar students whose creative interests lie in one or more of the several areas of art, such as sculpture, painting, and architecture. Through membership in this club, members are able to attend lectures by well-known artists in Houston. Making field trips, hearing speakers, and visiting art exhibits were the club's activities for the year.

Since its beginning in 1947, Lamar's National Forensic League has brought honor to the school and challenge to the members. Through the club, members learn pertinent facts about world events while enjoying inter-school competitions. Members have entered tournaments from New Orleans to Pittsburg. Often, the NFL presents entire programs for civics classes. The club also participates in Student Congresses to learn the machinery of the national legislature. The club's goal each year is to attend the national NFL tournaments.

Proudly displaying the rewards of long hours of preparation and practice are (from left) Vicki Floyd, John Bennington and Debbie Long.

On the Road

Kachina is Lamar's drama club for sophomores interested in the numerous talent shows, children's plays, and musical programs presented at Lamar. Each year Kachina stages a variety program to give students a sample of the fun in drama. The members of the club are publicity agents, ticket sellers, and all-around boosters—vital contributors to the active drama department of Lamar.

Sophomores, Susan Barnes, Carla Hull, Judy Norwood, and Marty Aylin "act" like janitors and do their part to help keep the drama building clean.

Setting the stage for a presentation by the drama department are these responsible and efficient Demons: Larry Rodgers, Susan Jewell, Robert Westheimer, Gary Griffin, Larry Sherrill and Lawrence Cook.

Angels in Disguise

Lawrence Cook, Larry Sherrill and Pete Van Dyck are busily making possible another show in the drama building.

There would be no productions on the Lamar stage or in the drama building without Denney's Demons. These unseen heroes are in charge of the lighting and staging for the many musicals, pep rallies, variety shows, assemblies, installations, and special programs here at Lamar. The productions of the social service clubs—The Mirabeau Melodrama, The Niwauna Censored Sixties, and the Wichaka-Chums Style Show—all depend on the technical knowledge and the abilities of this efficient stage crew.

The Show Must Go On

Membership in the National Thespian Society is the highest honor to be achieved in high-school dramatics. Students are admitted where achievements in dramatic arts are worthy of being called "outstanding." Through the organization, recognition is given to those who have shown superior talent both on stage and behind the scenes. In collaboration with other school drama groups, the club organizes the stage presentations at Lamar.

The aim of the National Thespian Society is to create an active interest in high-school theater, to develop appreciation for it, and to improve its quality.

The purpose of the Texas History Club is to develop interest in Texas history through discussion, travel, and individual study. Among its projects are field trips, participation in the Texas State Historical Association meeting at Austin, and individual research and writing.

This year the club attended the Texas State Historical Association meeting, took field trips in and around Houston, conducted several money-raising projects, and gave a history award at the end of the year.

Whether he studies French or not, any Lamar student may join La Cinquantaine. A worthwhile organization, the French Club encourages interests in the French language and culture.

This year, club members heard several speakers, enjoyed French films, and visited art galleries. Again, the club donated to the Lamar library a subscription to Match Magazine.

The social climax for La Cinquantaine was its annual spring banquet.

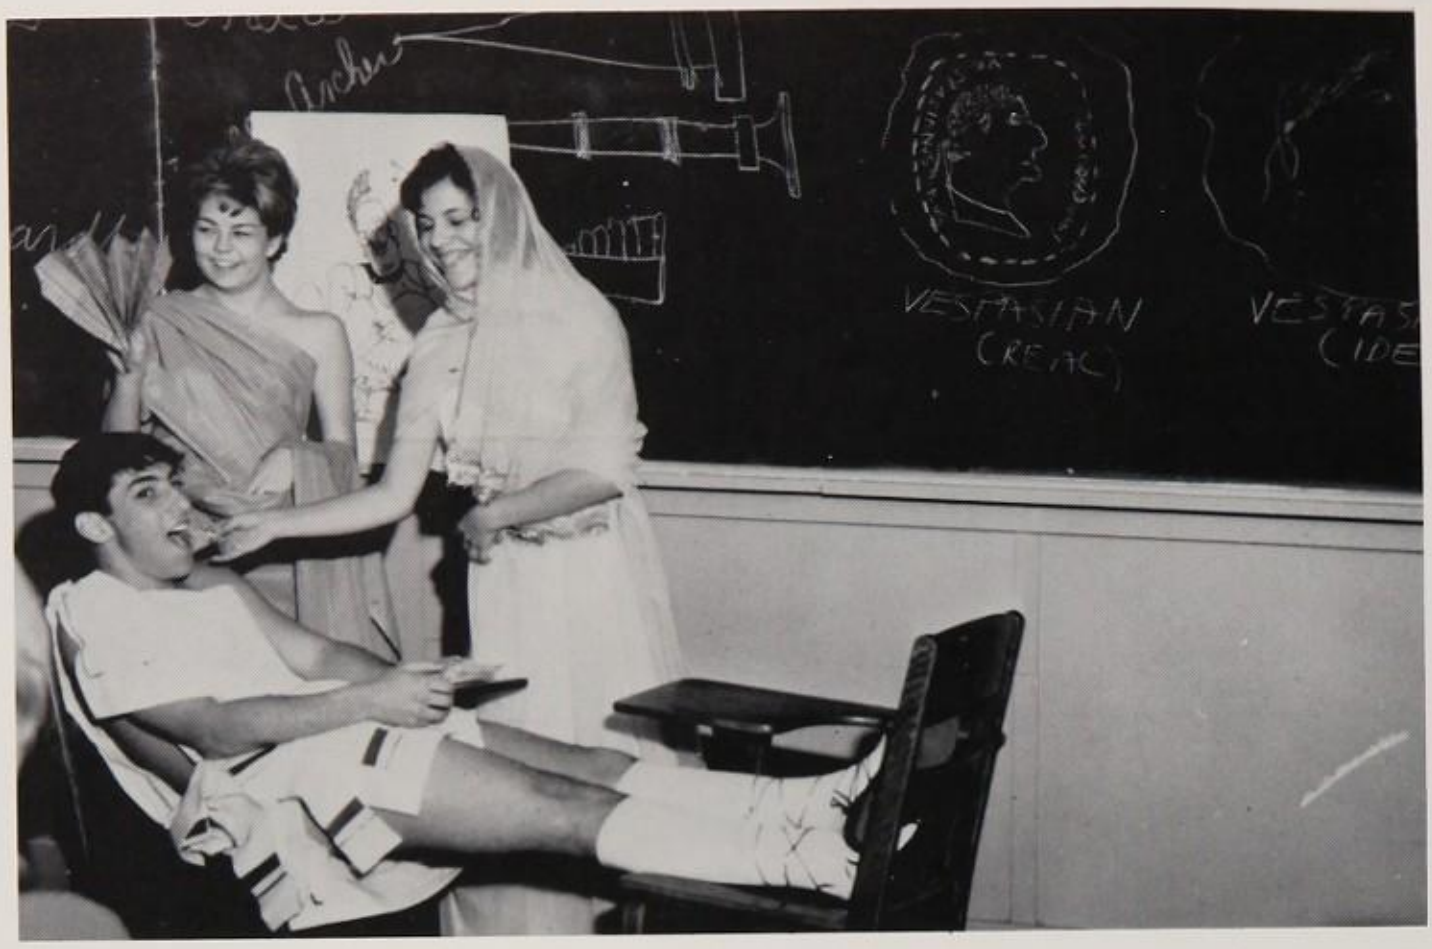
Honora Societas Romana



Recalling the days of old Rome when Caesar was king are Sandy Wilson, Rick Lasser and Stephanie Dee.

The Roman Honor Society was founded in the spring of 1963 by the six members of the fourth-year Latin class to stimulate an appreciation of Latin both as a language and as a culture. The Society provides the opportunity for constructive activities for students interested in Latin. In the autumn, the club had a Roman Ball. At the banquet, new members were installed.

Membership is based on a high scholastic average and an interest in Latin.

One of Lamar's newest clubs, the San Felipe Chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society, takes its name from the nearby settlement of San Felipe, established in 1823 as the headquarters for Stephen F. Austin's colony. The Society encourages scholastic achievement and greater interest in the study of Spanish. An "A" average in Spanish is the membership requirement.

Activities included a banquet at a Latin-American restaurant and a picnic excursion to San Felipe in the Spring.

The Future Nurses Club, a member of the Medical Careers Club of Harris County, had a highly successful year. The Club was founded in 1953 to promote an understanding of nursing and its related fields and careers. This year the club made several field trips to such places as Texas Women's University, The Opportunity Center and Baylor Medical School. Perhaps the most enjoyable trip was to Blair General Hospital where Dr. Kildare spoke on the importance of theatrical nursing.

Exploring the Heavens

The Lamar Astronomy Club is an organization open to all students of Lamar who are interested in astronomy or physics. Since the club was founded in 1955, the members have built Houston's only observatory and have acquired two of the largest and finest telescopes in the city. The observatory provides an effective center for the club's activities. Members frequently observe time, and record various planetary phenomena, meteors, and comets. The club holds regular monthly meetings, often presenting talks or demonstrations, supplemented by motion pictures.

Field trips have always been a significant part of the activities. During the past year members observed the transit of Mercury across the sun, three newly discovered comets, a lunar eclipse, and two spectacular meteor showers. The club also participates in activities with national astronomical groups and with the Houston Amateur Astronomy Club.

Somehow Bill Rudersdorf, Charles Baldwin, and Bruce Barnes can't find any heavenly bodies to observe—their problem could be that the sun has not set!

Farmers of Tomorrow

An intense interest in agriculture is the only requirement for membership in the Future Farmers of America Club. During the year, members select candidates for F.F.A. Sweetheart, who is then elected by the student body. The club also has an annual Father and Son banquet.

Members express their interests through their projects, which may include raising steers, chickens, rabbits, or other livestock. Of great interest to the members is the Future Farmers Stock Show in which the boys may enter their projects for competition. Each boy is also eligible to enter the livestock judging contest.

Here Comes the Band

The Lamar Redskin Band entertains enthusiastic football fans during half-time.

One of our most active clubs is the Lamar Band. It enriches such school activities as pep rallies and football games in the fall, the Christmas and Easter programs, the P.T.A., and Open House.

In recent years the Lamar Band has become an outstanding performing band in the Houston area, participating in band marching and concert contests. It performed at the Inauguration of Governor John Connally and at Rice Stadium for the late President John Kennedy.

Originally, the Lamar Band was the ROTC Marching Band under the direction of Lee S. Keding. Through his earlier leadership and the present direction of Robert E. Foster, the Lamar Band has achieved a high degree of excellence.

Executive Officers:
Karen Kleiderer, Randy Spike, Charles Sparks

The Lamar Orchestra is made up of the second period orchestra plus additions from the band under the direction of Mr. Robert Foster. It participates in many interesting activities during the year.

Each year the orchestra enters the Interscholastic League Competition with solos, ensembles, string orchestra, and full symphonic orchestra. In the 1963 competition, the concert performance was the only one given straight "one" ratings of any other Houston orchestra.

A large number of school activities were presented by the Lamar orchestra. The musical production, the "Wizard of Oz," was accompanied by the orchestra. A Chamber Music Concert was presented, featuring string ensembles and solos. The orchestra played in the Spring Concert along with performances by the band and stage band.

Outstanding members of the orchestra were selected to participate in the All-State Orchestra sponsored by the Texas Music Educators Association. Among those selected were Charles Miller, oboe; Randy Spears, violin; Martin Smith, french horn; and Karen Kleiderer, clarinet.

As a finale, the orchestra added to the pageantry of the May Fete.

In the past, the Lamar Stage Band has won more stage band contests than any other high school stage band in Texas. Besides winning contests, they play for various school activities. Among these are the May Fete, the style show, the musical put on by the drama department, sophomore orientation, basketball pep-rallies, and assembly programs.

As the Choralettes "unite in harmony," audiences across the country unite in acclaim. This year the Choralettes have achieved exciting triumphs. At the World's Fair in New York they proved their showmanship. Perhaps their most appreciative audience was the Cadets at West Point.

Local accomplishments included appearances at the Trade Fair, Houston Country Club, River Oaks Country Club, Houston Baptist College, the Humble Building, and the Music Hall.

Lamar-O-Liers, Lamar's girls' a cappella choir, is devoted to giving pleasure to others through song. Under the direction of Mrs. Lowder, the group performed in various programs throughout the year. At the International Trade Fair they performed as Dutch girls. Other programs included Christmas shows for the public and for the student body and a song fest for the Grandmothers' Club. With deep pride in its musical abilities, the Lamar Mixed Chorus presents interesting programs using varied types of composition.

Under the direction of Mrs. Norma Lowder, the chorus performed at First Methodist Church, at St. Luke's Methodist Church, and in the school Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. The Octet sang for the Traffic Club at the Rice Hotel. One of the Chorus' outstanding numbers, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." helped make this a highly successful year.

At 7:45 every Tuesday, a group of students calling itself the Christian Student Union meets in the Lamar auditorium. The only qualification for membership is an interest in the club, shown by the student's attendance. The purpose of the C.S.U. is to study Christian principles and ideals with the aim of encouraging students to apply these principles at home and in school.

The Mirabeau Club was organized for the purpose of promoting good citizenship and friendliness, for improving physical surroundings of the school, and for improving the spirit of Lamar.

Mirabeau girls start early in the year by welcoming low sophomores to the school during Orientation. This year a Welcoming Committee was formed to continue making new students feel at home.

During the Yuletide season, Mirabeau gives baskets of food to needy families and throws a Christmas party for underprivileged children at Ben Milam School.

As the audience hissed, booed, clapped, and cheered, the club presented its first Mirabeau Melodrama, Curse You, Jack Dalton. In the spring the club invited all students to its annual Orenda-signing party.

A Jeri Armstrong-Diane Daniels Memorial Award is presented to the most outstanding girl graduate in Mirabeau, and the Mirabeau Scholarship of one hundred dollars is presented to the most outstanding and deserving non-member graduate.

Trying to scamper up the tree are Mooks Jeanie Long, Pam Cecil, Prissy Fullilove, Lacy McGehee, Carol Crook, Clair Clark, Gail Potter, and Joanne Oltmann, to join the other monkey mooks—Sandy Wilson, Anne Garwood, Susan Clemmons, Sharon Haralson and Donna Temple.

Word

"Mum's the word—on monstrous mums" was a slogan Niwauna proved to be true this year. Members of Niwauna, a girls' service club, sold mums not only for the weekly football games, but also for Teachers' Mum Week and Hero Mum Week.

Living up to another slogan, "Charity where charity is needed," Niwauna girls gave food to a needy family at Thanksgiving and during Christmas entertained underprivileged children at Dow Elementary School with a party and presents.

Students transferring to Lamar late in the year may count on a friendly welcome from Niwauna members. Highlighting the social activities, the club held its annual formal dance in November. True to tradition, Niwauna produced the original Censored Sixties Variety Show and sponsored the popular Singing Valentines.

Palamar Pals

Throughout the year, Palamar members serve their school and fellow students with enthusiasm. During the football season, club members sell slogan slips and pennants. Preparations begin as early as July, when members meet to choose designs.

In the Spring, Palamar sponsored an Easter-egg hunt for children at a day-care home. Gifts this year included donations to the basketball team and the band for new uniforms and equipment.

Social gatherings included a formal dinner-dance, a banquet, and the Mother-Daughter Tea.

Bewildered sophomores breathe more easily, thanks to the Tawasi Club. The first day of school, Tawasi members distribute school maps and lists of teachers to the sophomore homerooms. During the football season, Tawasi not only made banners for the games, but also sponsored the Reagan game.

This year the girls volunteered one afternoon a week to take care of children at the Burnet-Bayland Home for Dependent Children. Their social activities consisted of the annual spring banquet, a formal dance, and the Mother-Daughter Tea.

Every year the club presents the Tawasi Cup to one outstanding junior boy on the basis of scholastic ability and intra-curricular activities.

The purpose of the Wichaka-Chums is made evident in the club's name itself. The Indian word Wichaka means "to be true." The letters in "Chums" stand for charity, hospitality, usefulness, merit and scholarship. Through their various activities, club members live up to these ideals.

During the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons the club sponsored various charity projects. Wichaka-Chums also made donations to the school during the year. Annually, Wichaka presents to the most representative senior boy The David Fenwick White Memorial Cup.

In the spring, club members presented their Style Show. Social activities included a formal dance, the Mother-Daughter Tea, and the Father-Daughter Banquet.

What! Irari Safari?

The spirit of Irari is seen in its Indian motto "Imi Irari" or its English counterpart "Brothers Always." With this motto in mind the members strive to achieve good fellowship, high honor, a stronger character, and a more mature understanding of the world which surrounds them.

The Lamar Band, the library, the athletic teams, and the various charity groups in and around Houston are among the many organizations which receive generous donations from Irari.

Such events as the Irari Safari, the annual Stag Banquet, in addition to the Irari Court, and numerous dances and parties make the social calendar complete for the Irari year.

Pow Wow, Lamar's "man's" club has always been an active social and service organization. Traditionally, the Pow Wow Club sponsors the homecoming hop and the May Fete each year. It also has the unique privilege of having the only "peon-drawn" wagon in the spring rodeo parade. Famous Pow Wow parties round out the social life at Lamar.

Generous members contribute to the library, athletic teams, the band, and various charities. At Christmas, the club gave food and presents to five underprivileged families. Encouraging student developments, Pow Wow each year presents the K. Lamar Camp Memorial Award to the senior boy showing the most excellence in character, scholarship, and athletics.

Santa Claus to Underprivileged

Ramal members Mike Driscoll and Joe Stubbs don't seem to mind at all being soda jerks for Barry Debakey and especially his date, Roxanne Espenship, at the Ramal Christmas Dance.

Founded in 1942, the Ramal Club aims at promoting fellowship among the student body, encouraging school spirit, promoting service projects for the school, and sponsoring social functions.

During the Christmas season, Ramal boys gave a Christmas party for underprivileged first graders at Crockett Elementary School. On December 20, the club gave its Christmas dance in the girls' gym.

Each spring, Ramal sponsors the "Ramal Relays" for all boys at Lamar who have not lettered in track. Toward the end of the year, the club awards a trophy to the most outstanding athlete at Lamar.

Athletics

The athletic department of Lamar opens the door of physical fitness to every student at Lamar. Not only the varsity athletes participate in the athletic opportunities, but through the required physical education classes, each student receives training to improve his skills and co-ordination. For fun, and for increased physical ability, the interested boy may go out for intramural sports, and the girl, Cherokee tournaments. However, the real incentive for achievement in athletics comes from that intangible quality at Lamar—its spirit. Whether actively participating or not, each student is a "part of the team" through his interest and loyalty to Lamar. "—Rallying 'round her banner, we will never fail. So to Lamar, Alma Mater, sing hail, hail, hail."

Pre-season predictions greatly underrated the 1963 Lamar Redskin football team. The sportswriters had predicted a 1-4 season in district play for this team that they felt faced a problem in depth. However they greatly underestimated the fight and the spirit this little band of Indians possessed. In opening their schedule with a real "head-knocker" against state-ranked Galena Park, Lamar had been rated a three-touchdown underdog. But a grinding Redskin defense managed to hold back the powerful Jackets to a mere 7-0 defeat. In their second game the Indians were handed the first of their two major defeats of the season. This time it was at the hands of Lamar's newest rival, the Lee Generals. The following week the Reagan Bulldogs managed to slip by the Redskins, scoring in the last eight seconds of play to win by a touchdown. This heartbreaking setback was followed by another close defeat in a contest with the Waltrip Rams.

Then the tide turned. With a little shifting of the offense, Lamar conquered the Davis Panthers in a 6-0 thriller the following week. This first victory sent Lamar into district play with a dismal 1-4 record. A huge Austin team was to challenge Lamar in the first district game, a team picked on all polls to be the 9-AAAA District Champions. In a never-to-be-forgotten clash Lamar opened up a new sweeping offense that ate up the insurmountable Mustangs that week. This offense made repeat performances out of the Jones and the Westbury games. Lamar had not been picked to win any of these games, even after it turned Austin upside down, but the players' performances at these contests earned "lineman of the week" and "back of the week" honors on four occasions for Corby Robertson and Harvey Trammell. The next week was one of intense activity for the players as well as the fans. For the Bellaire game, numerous pep rallies and festivities pushed school spirit up to an extraordinary level. The game was picked to be a toss-up by the sportswriters, but it proved to be a heartbreaking 30-6 loss for the Redskins. The season ended with an impressive comeback, when the Redskins badly defeated San Jacinto.

This year's cheerleaders are seen here going through the motions of a few practice jumps before a game-day pep rally.

1963 Redskin Cheerleaders

Often when a team is losing, a demoralizing effect is conveyed from the silent stands out onto the field of play. It is the difficult task of the cheerleaders never to let such a lull occur. This year, school spirit at Lamar got off to a rather slow start, but, as the season progressed and the football team got on its feet and began piling one Redskin victory upon another, the spirit increased to a tremendous, moving level not often seen. Much of the credit for this feat should rightfully be bestowed on this year's fine cheerleaders. However, they were by no means solely responsible. A winning football team and enthusiastic student support were invaluable aides to the cheerleaders in accomplishing their purpose. This year Roy Collins performed an excellent job as "Little Red," and the service clubs provided the elaborate decorations around the school each week and brought Big Red to every game.

Barbara Krause and Doug Craig.

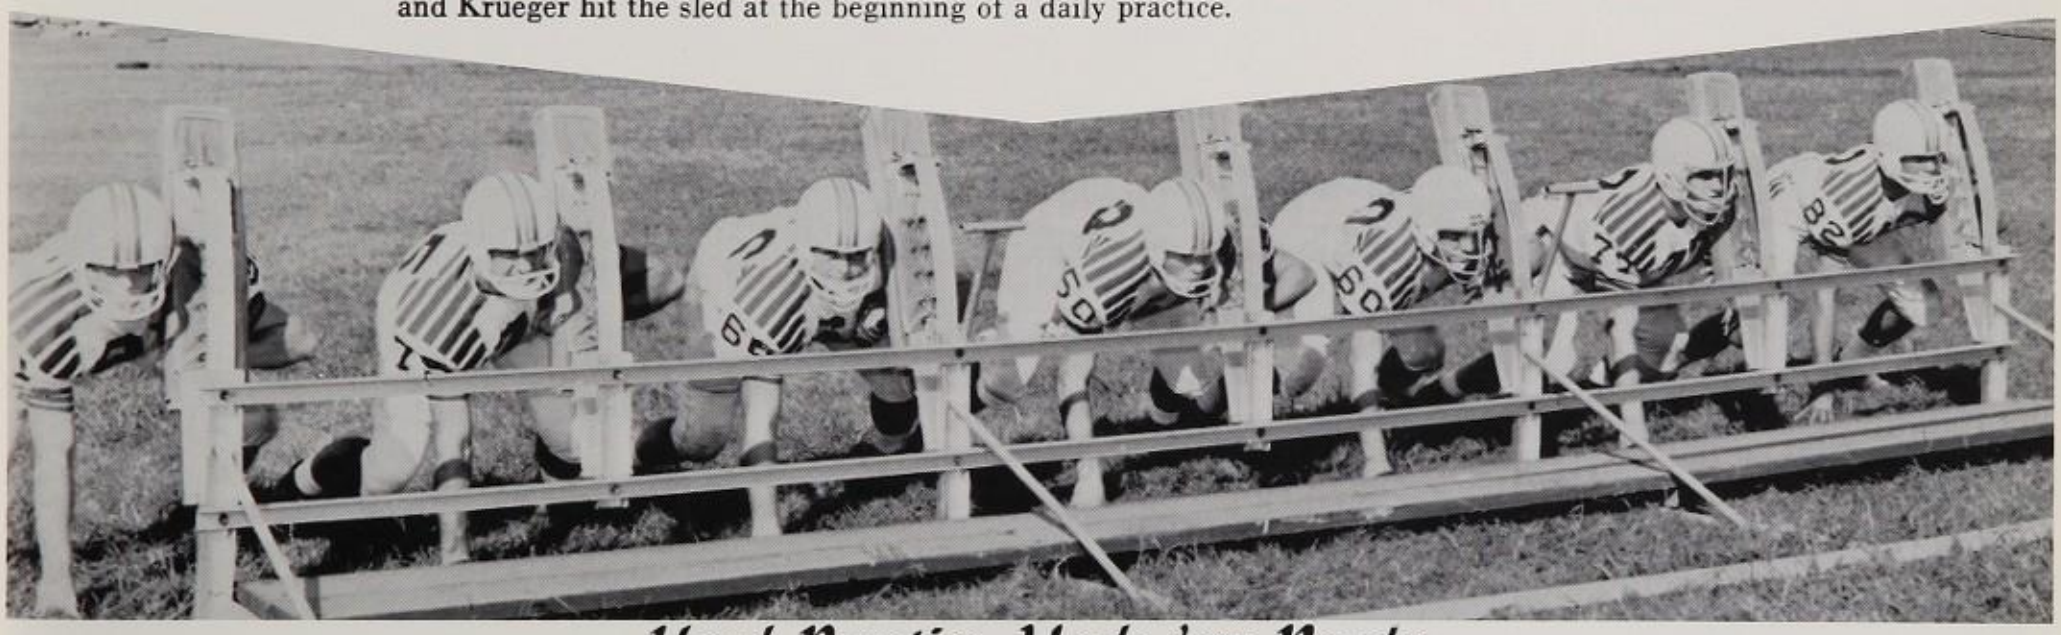
Joan Frensley and Jerry Converse.

Sharon Haralson and Bobby Hellbusch.

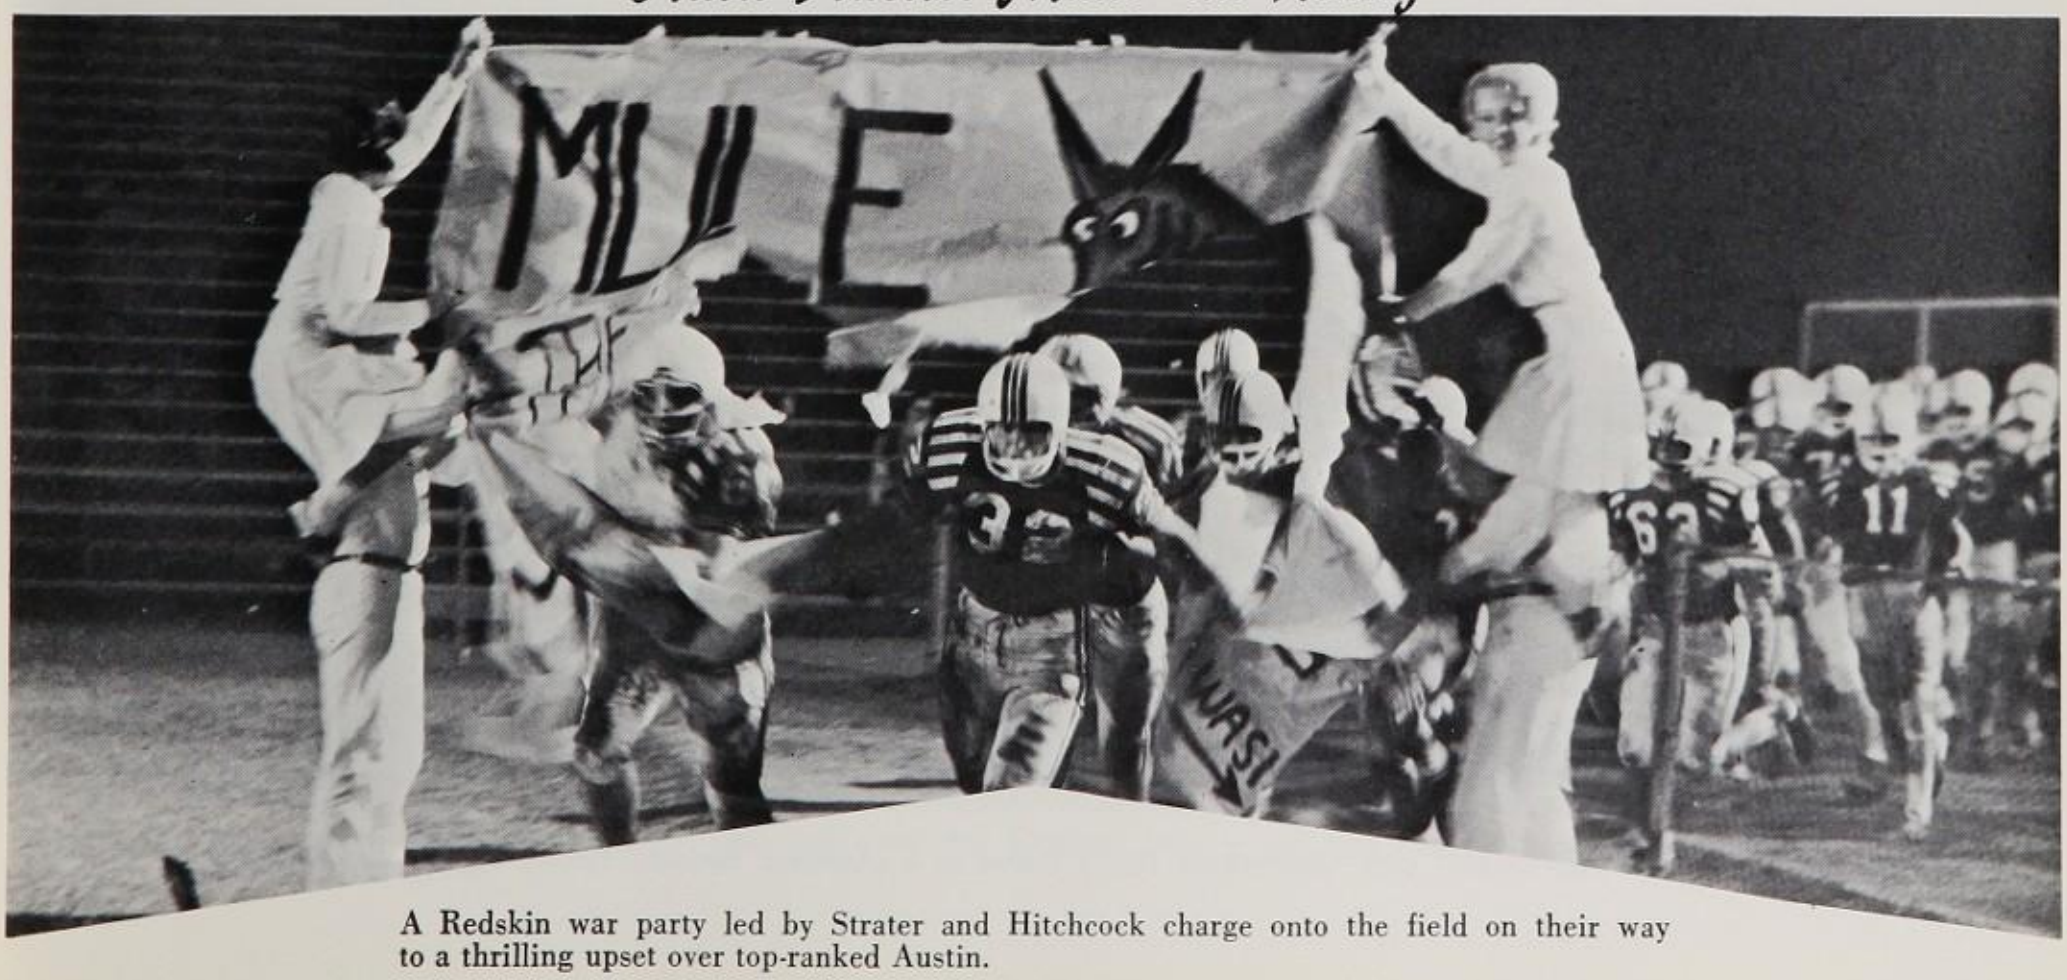
Handling the maze of football equipment is only a small part of the huge task managers Robbie Moore, Richard Powell, and Sonny Kauffman perform during football season.

Ready and waiting to aid an injured Indian, our indispensable trainers Art Koeninger, Charles Morris, and Chuck Jacobus assume their positions near the bench.

Lamar's big forward wall composed of Fisk, Leinert, Earl, Dantone, Strater, Bryan, and Krueger hit the sled at the beginning of a daily practice.



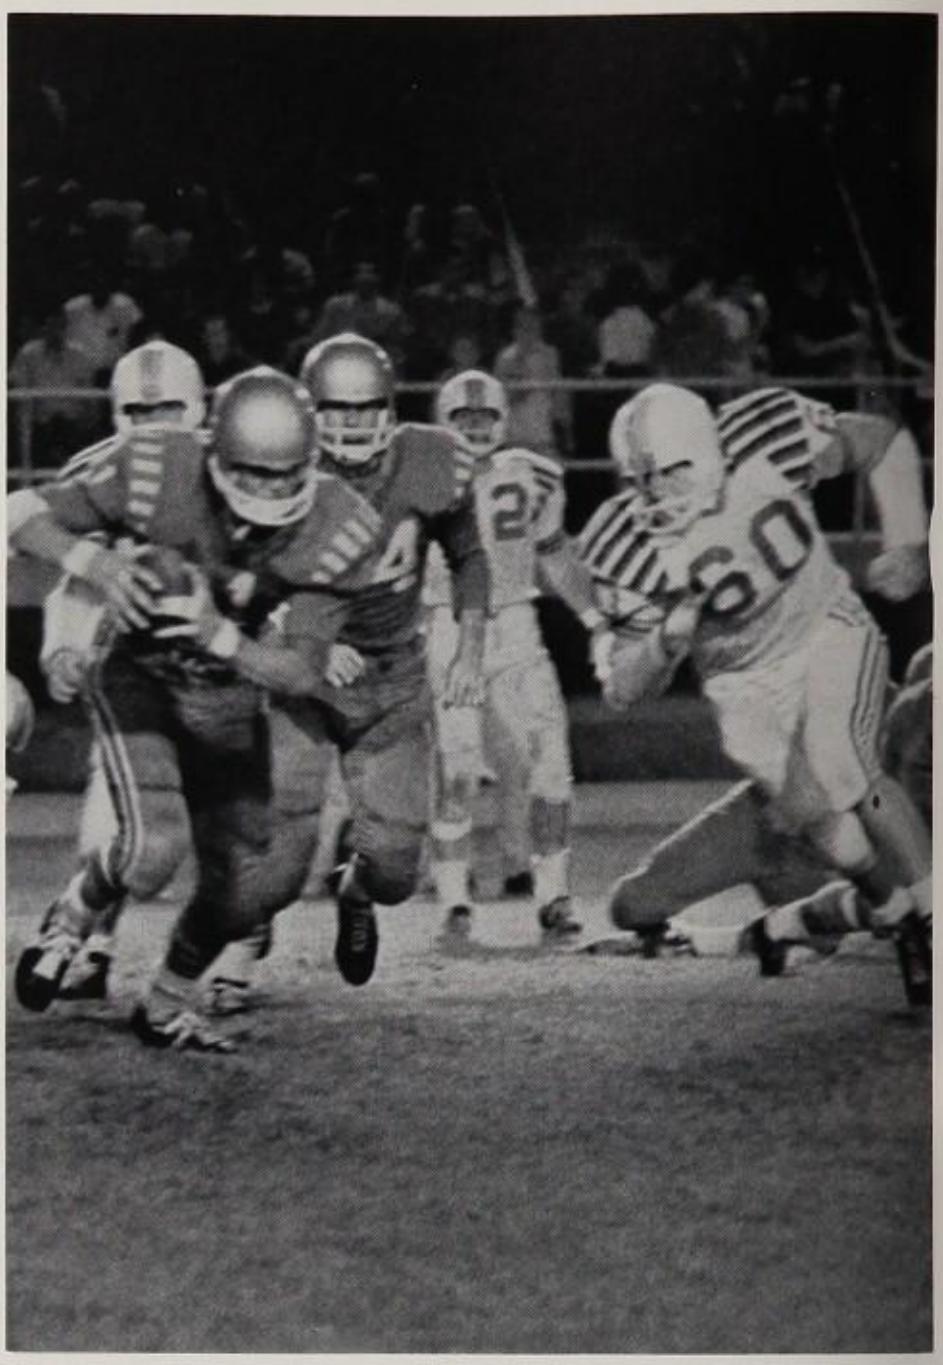
Hard Practice Made 'em Ready

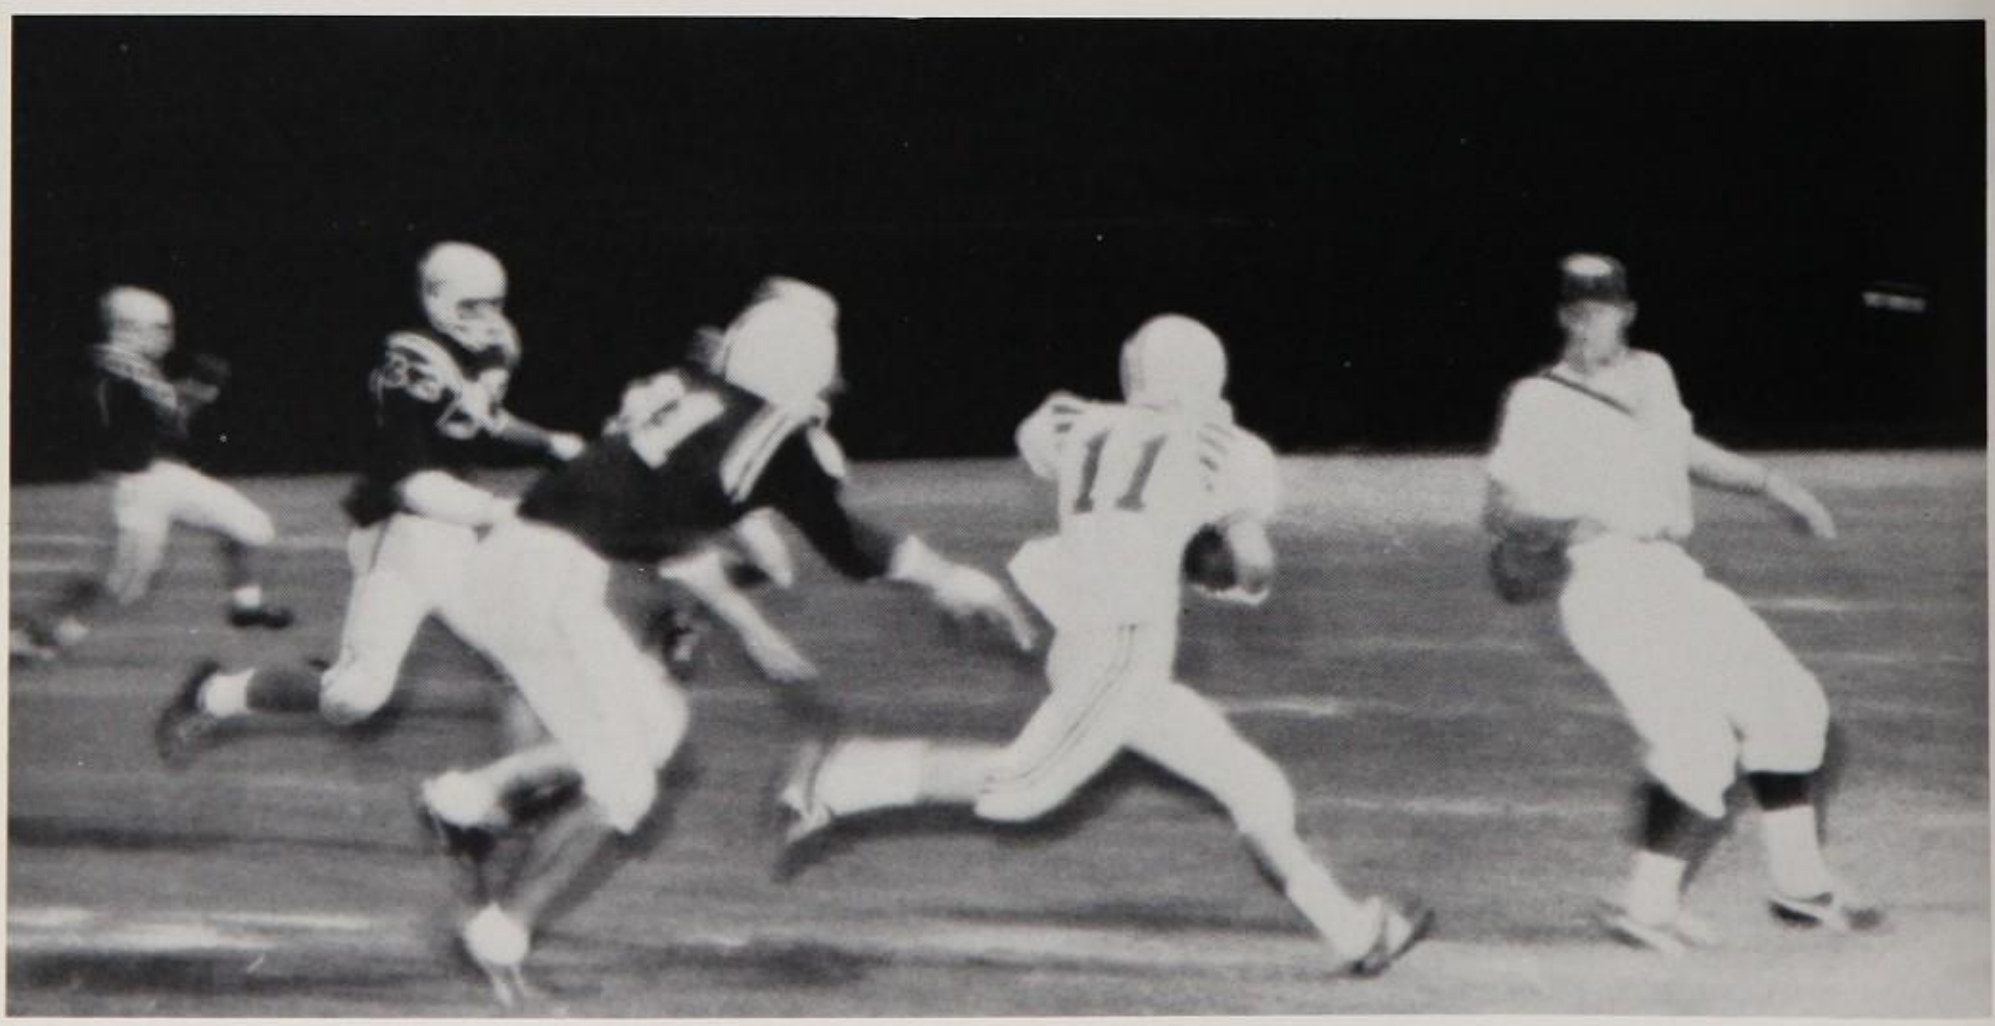


A Redskin war party led by Strater and Hitchcock charge onto the field on their way to a thrilling upset over top-ranked Austin.

Gutting it all the way, Chuck Tait picks up an essential four yards despite two would-be Waltrip tacklers.

It doesn't look like anything is going to stop Johnny Strater from getting to that Waltrip quarterback. And it didn't!





Sweeping end on the "keeper" goes Quarterback David Brown in a smashing Redskin victory against San Jacinto.

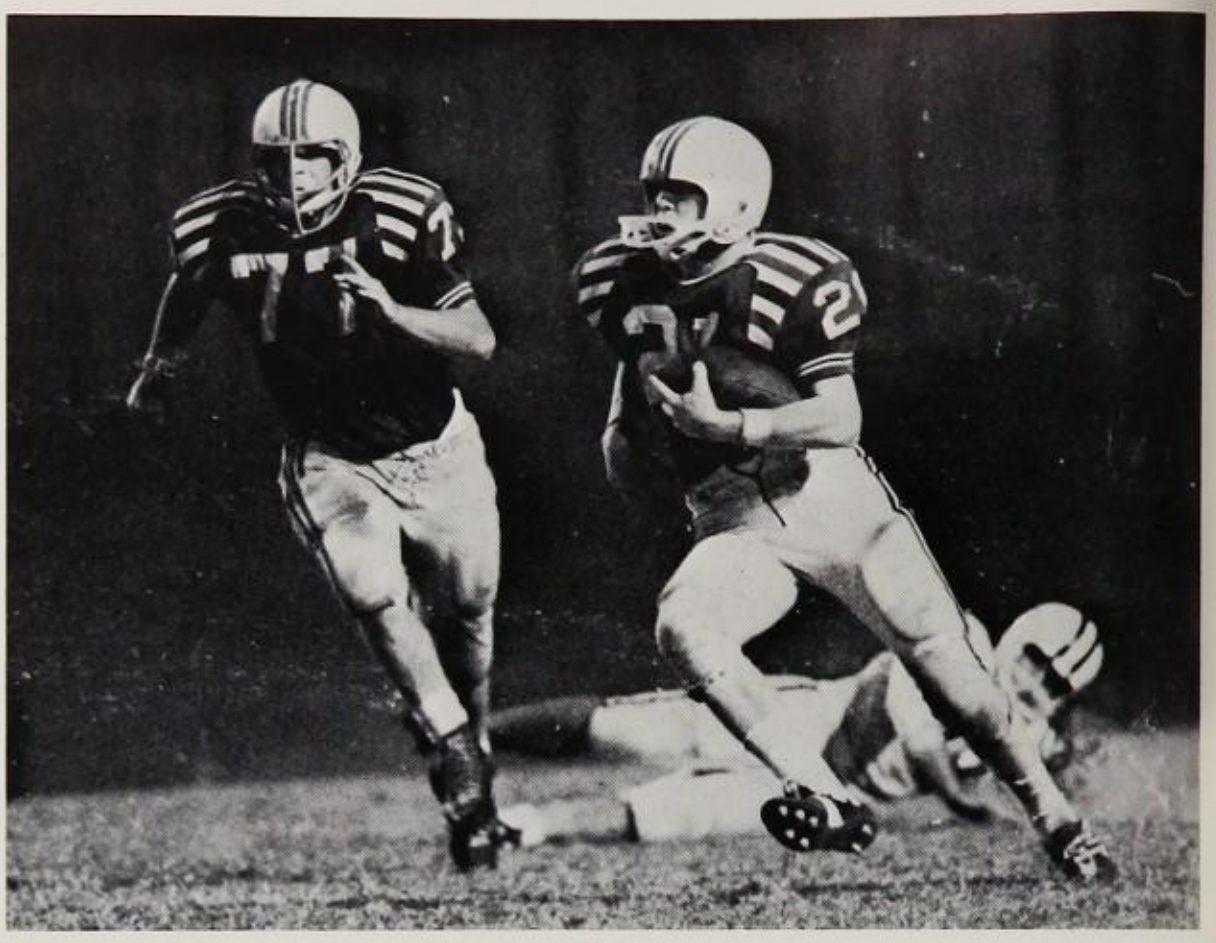
Guard Johnny Strater's (60) removal of two Cardinal defenders just wasn't enough to let Dick Nelms slide through for any big gain this time.

And Then the Rains Came!

Slipping and sliding on a muddy field, Harvey Trammell gives that Cardinal back a ride and tugs out a first down aided by blocks from Jared Hitchcock and David Brown.

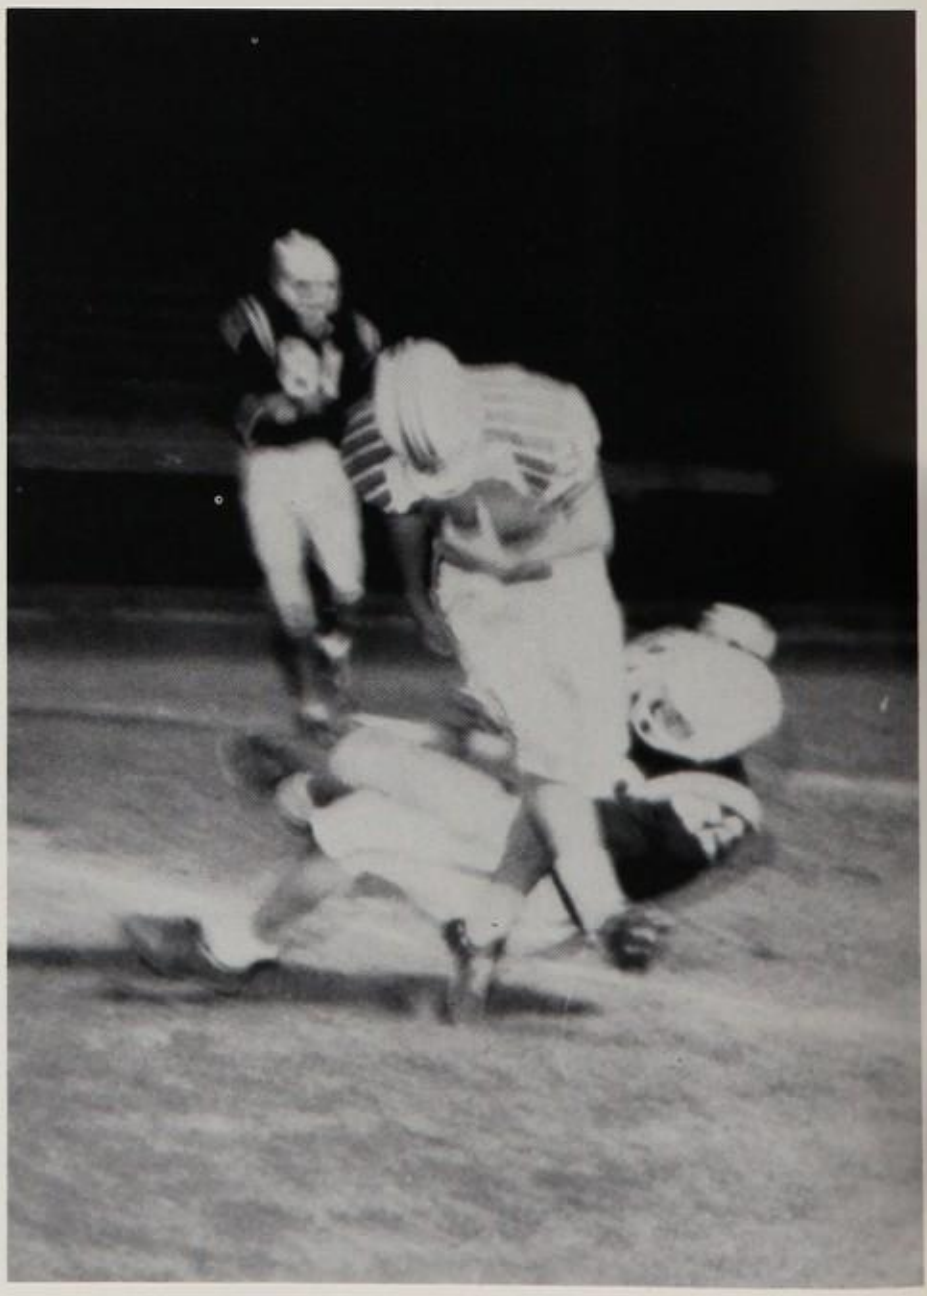
The Key Was Teamwork

A slap on the back goes out to Ronnie Dillee (45) from Harvey Trammell after his splendid interception of a San Jacinto pass on a play he turned into a Lamar touchdown.



Tackle Shelby Bryan leads a brick wall of an interference to leave those Davis Panthers dusted and pave the way for a speedy Leighton Chambers.

Fleet Harvey Trammell swings through a big hole in the Austin defense provided for him by Guards Allen Grassedonio and Johnny Strater.

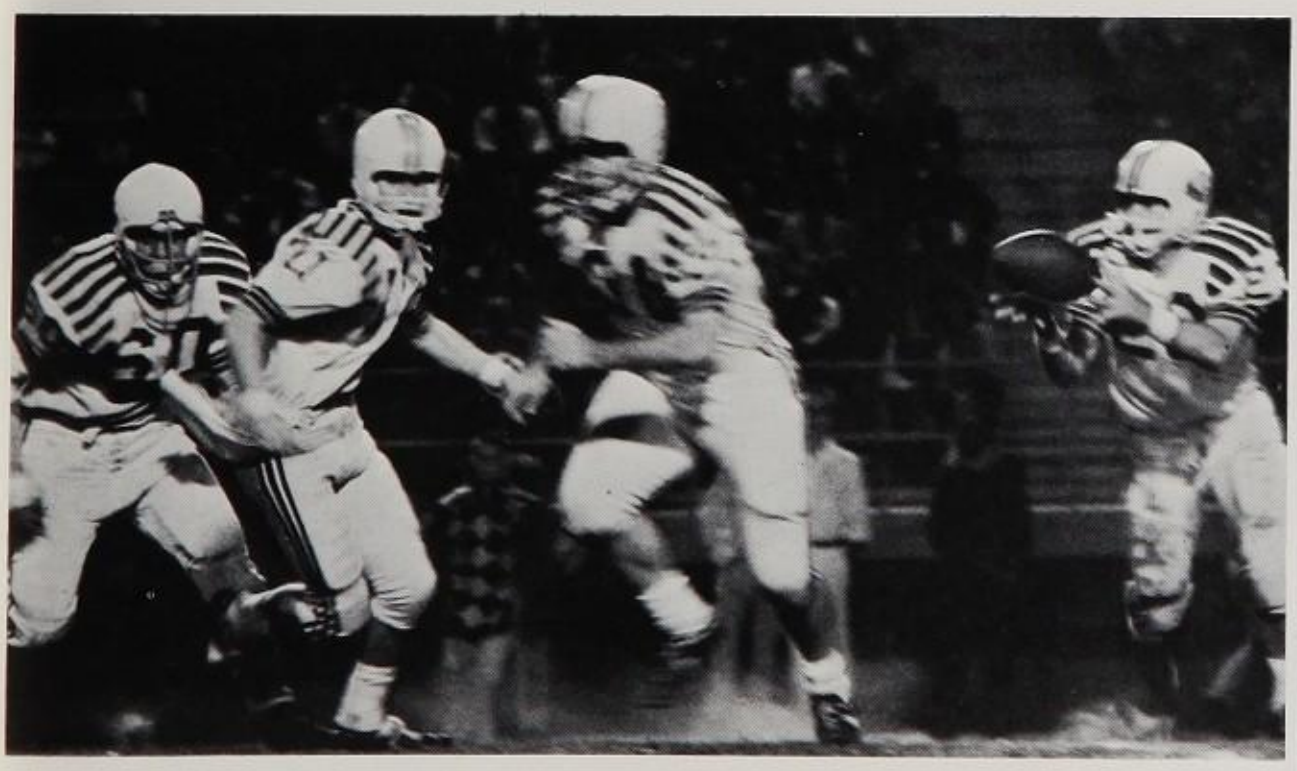


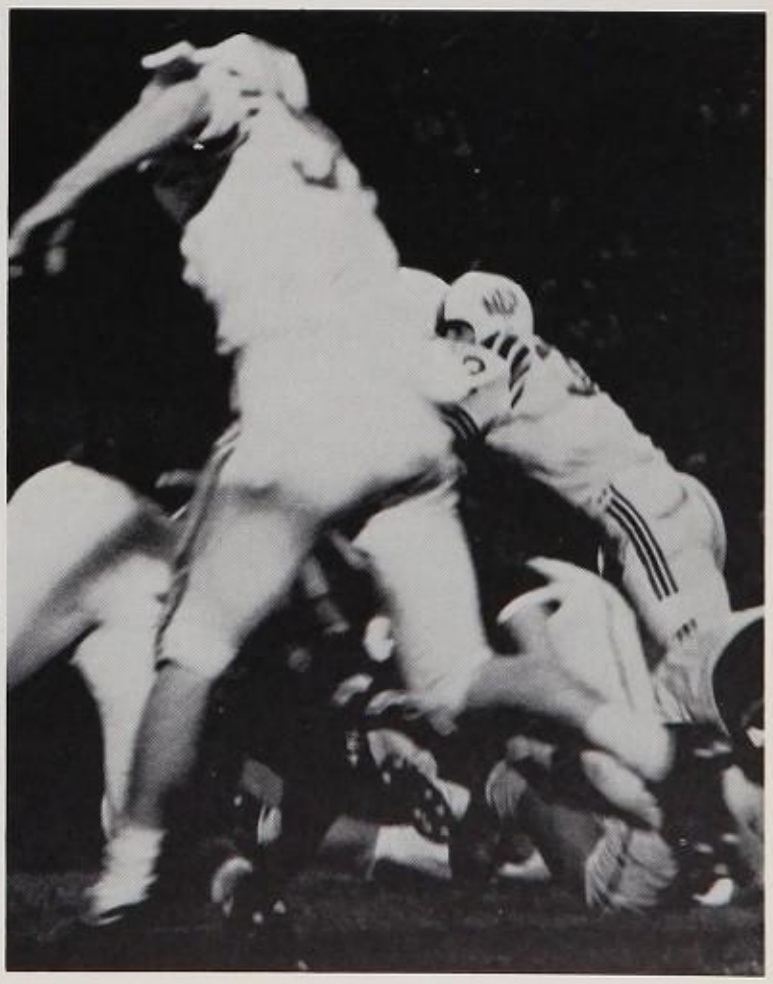
One bull of a fullback, Jared Hitchcock, plows right over those Golden Bears to eat up yardage on a crucial third-down-and-eight situation.

Even with an interference like Jim Gardner and Harvey Trammell, Dick Nelms is at a loss to a faceguard tackle by that Davis Panther.

Coaches Fisk, McGee, and O'Reagan size up the situation before sending Shelby Bryan back into the action with a big play from the bench.

Quarterback David Brown pitches back to Harvey Trammell as he and pulling guard Johnny Strater and fullback Jim Gardner swing a big interference into position.

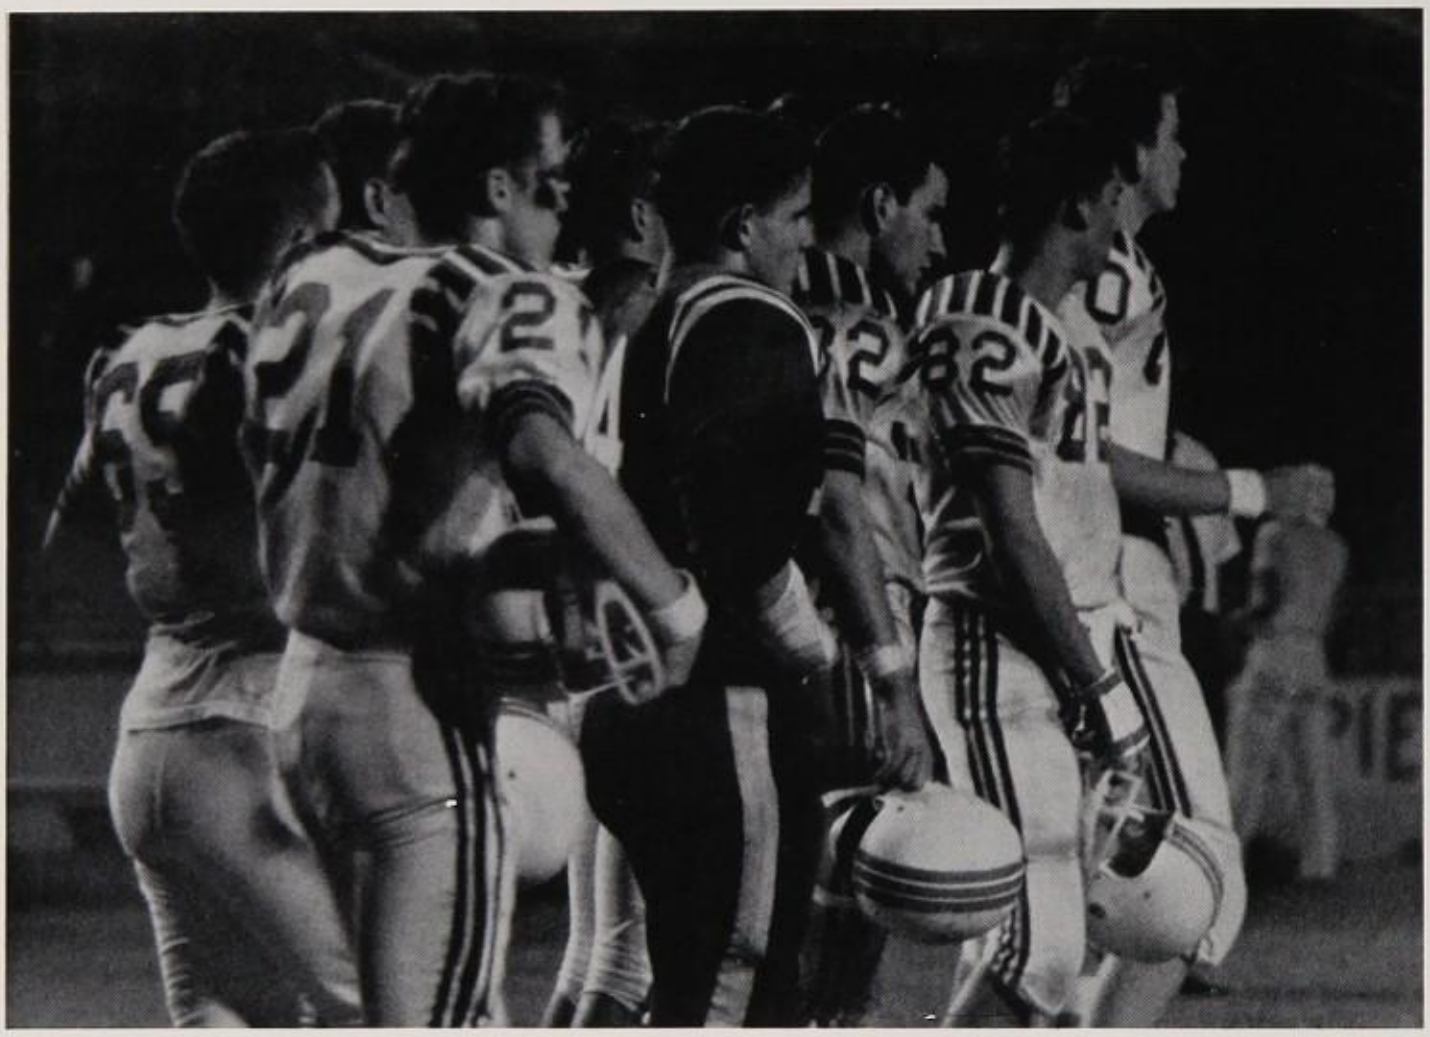


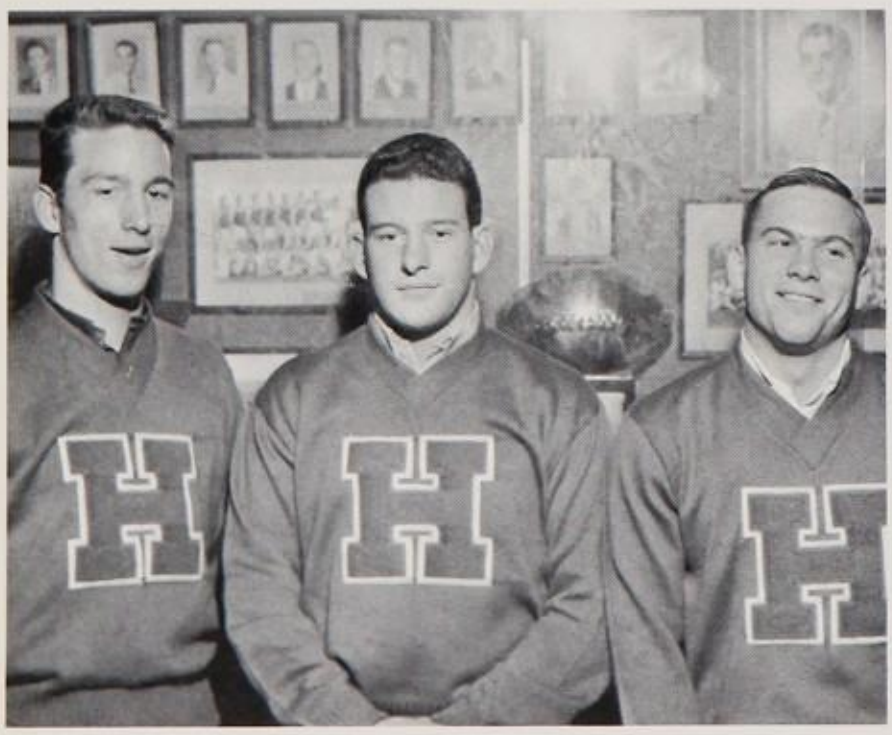


Up in the air goes Center Harold Dantone for a look at a Mustang quarterback sneak which has already been taken care of by Red-Dogging Jared Hitchcock.

Team Spirit Prevailed

The color, the swaying crowds, the noise, the electric air on game day—all of these are the glorious side of football which the fans know, but they represent only one side of the sport. Only one who plays can know both sides of the story. The drudgery of practice, the disappointment of defeat is most deeply felt only by those who participate. Here enjoying shooting the bull on game day, some varsity footballers give some "B" teamers a little razz as they prepare for their afternoon game. In a more dismal mood, some very somber and very tired Redskins stand respectfully with a Reagan lineman as the Reagan Alma Mater is played. The final gun had sounded only seconds earlier to end a game that Reagan had won in the last eight seconds of play.





Harold Dantone, Jared Hitchcock, and Harvey Trammell were elected this year's varsity football captains. Their leadership and their fine performances on the field and in practice helped make this past season a successful one.

Next Season's Varsity

Off to a rather slow start this past season, Lamar's Junior Varsity Squad staged a miraculous comeback during the middle and latter portions of the season much like our Varsity; and when the team had reached its full potential, hardly any other team could stop it. They won six of their last seven contests, finishing out their season with a very substantial victory over San Jacinto. The size of this Junior Varsity Squad leads all to expect many excellent varsity prospects from this team next year. The hard work of Coaches Jim Hart and Duke Lane and of the members of the team will be rewarded when these boys move up to varsity positions.

"B" Team Footballers

This past season, Lamar's hustling "B" teamers turned in a terrific 6-3 record to better either of the other two Redskin Football teams. A driving offense led by high-scoring Norman Herzog, Roy Wallace, Bobby Lundberg, and Mike Dowell piled up 75 of the 123 points this team compiled. This year's team was also blessed with an unusually big, as well as fast, line, which was a major factor in the making of this tremendous offense and the defense that held all opposition to a mere 57 points. It is certain that most of these boys will see action on the varsity squad in the forthcoming seasons. This group's performance would seem to point out that very probably a championship team will be assembled out of this group by the time these boys become seniors. Coach Stuart and Coach Roper will deserve much of the credit for any future performance of this hustling team.

Although lacking the height advantage that a great many of its opponents possessed, the 1963-64 Lamar Redskin Basketball Team still performed as an unusually quick, alert, and spirited unit. During District play six-foot, three-inch Bob Goff, the tallest man on the team, who did almost all of Lamar's tip-off jumping, never faced a man who was not at least two inches taller than he. Finishing next to last in Zone contention was a record that cannot be considered truly representative of this squad's ability. It possessed the fifth- and sixth-ranked scorers in our district in the form of Gary Zeller and Johnny Joe George and brought home the championship trophy from the Brazosport Tournament, played prior to the opening of District play. The team also did well in the other two tournaments in which it participated, advancing to the consolation finals in the Annual Houston J. C. Tournament in a field of twenty-four teams and to the semifinals in a tough tournament in Corpus Christi. These results point out the keenness of the competition in our particular area, since we were able to do well against opposition from other parts of the state.

The first half of District play did not go so well for the Redskins, but they came back very strong the second time around. However it often seemed that Fate was surely against us, for we lost three of these last five games in the last two minutes of play. The underrated Indians held the powerful Austin Mustangs. then vouching a 30-0 record. the Jones Falcons. and the Bellaire Cardinals right down to the wire, only to lose each time in this way. It was in the Austin game that a hopping Redskin defense held six-foot, seven-inch Ken Spain, the City's leading scorer, to his season's minimum in scoring. The Indians were able to end their season gloriously by crushing San Jacinto.

Next season's outlook is very good, for nine members of this year's varsity squad will return. In addition there will be boys from this year's Junior Varsity squad moving up to varsity positions.

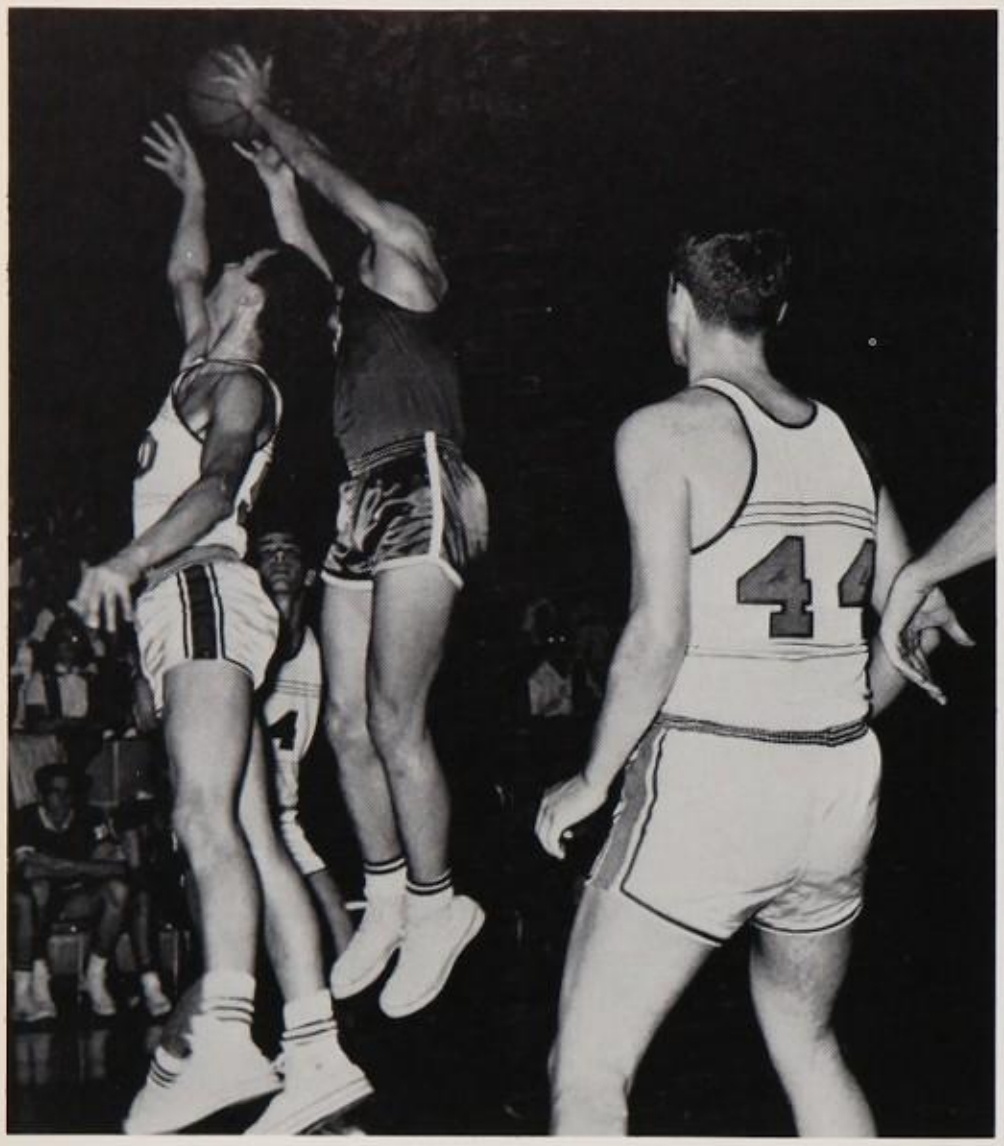
Paused momentarily, Garlen Clarabut has his eyes fixed on Bob Goff, who is battling that Austin player for a rebound. Jim Gilley moves in to aid Bob.



Leaping high goes lanky Bob Goff, straining to deliver the tip-off to waiting Tommy Lott.

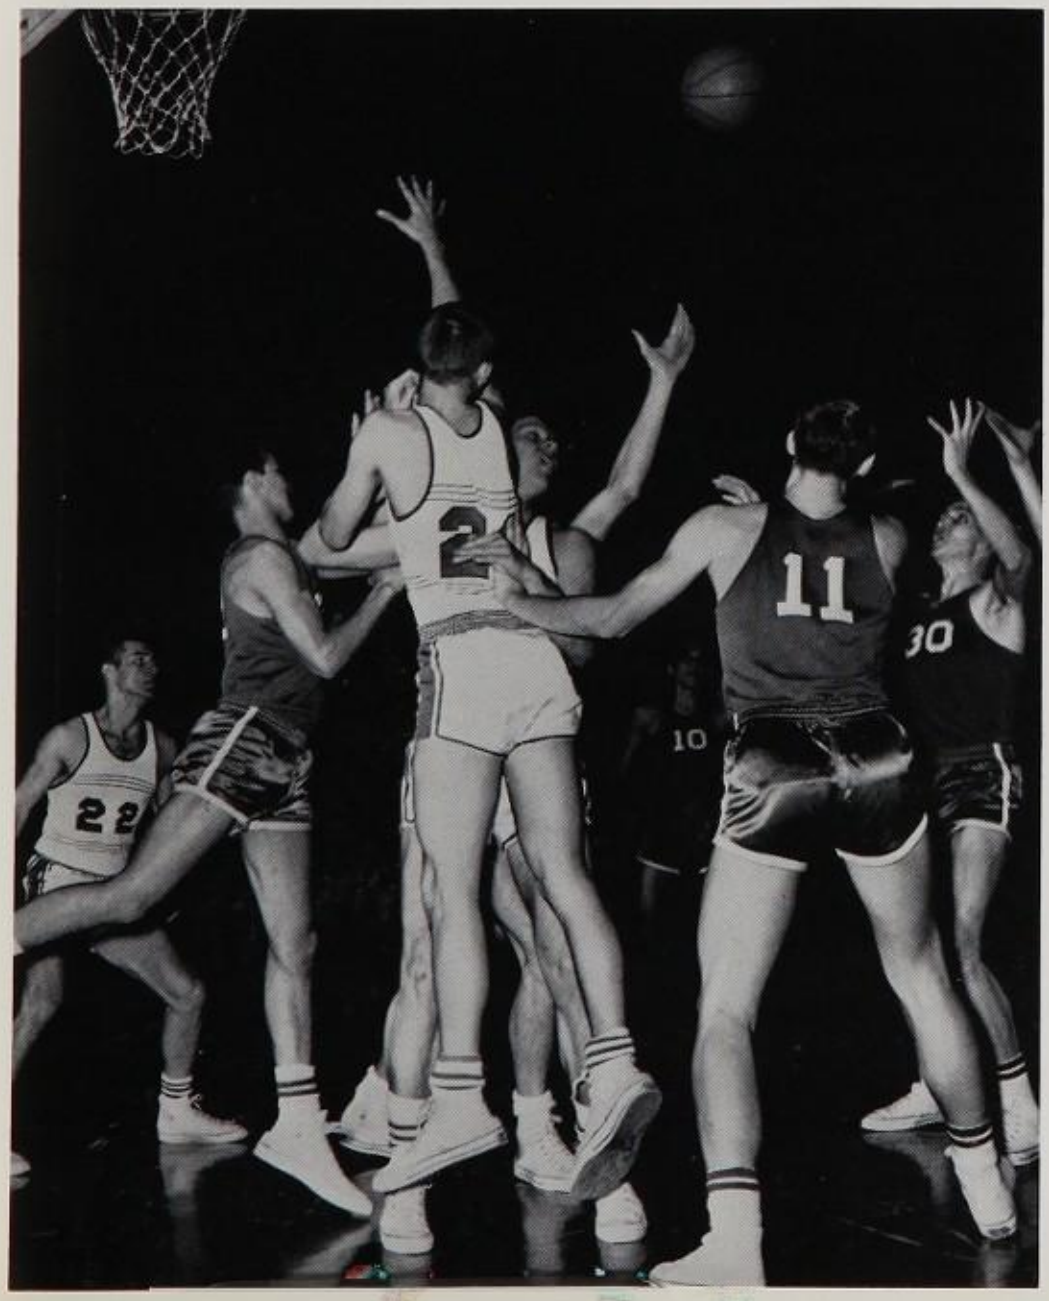
There Was Ample Action

Junior Varsity men Terry Newman, Cary Clark, Wright Bohlmann, and Jimmy Disch follow up Malcolm Pettigrew's shot just to make sure those Lee Generals don't get a rebound.

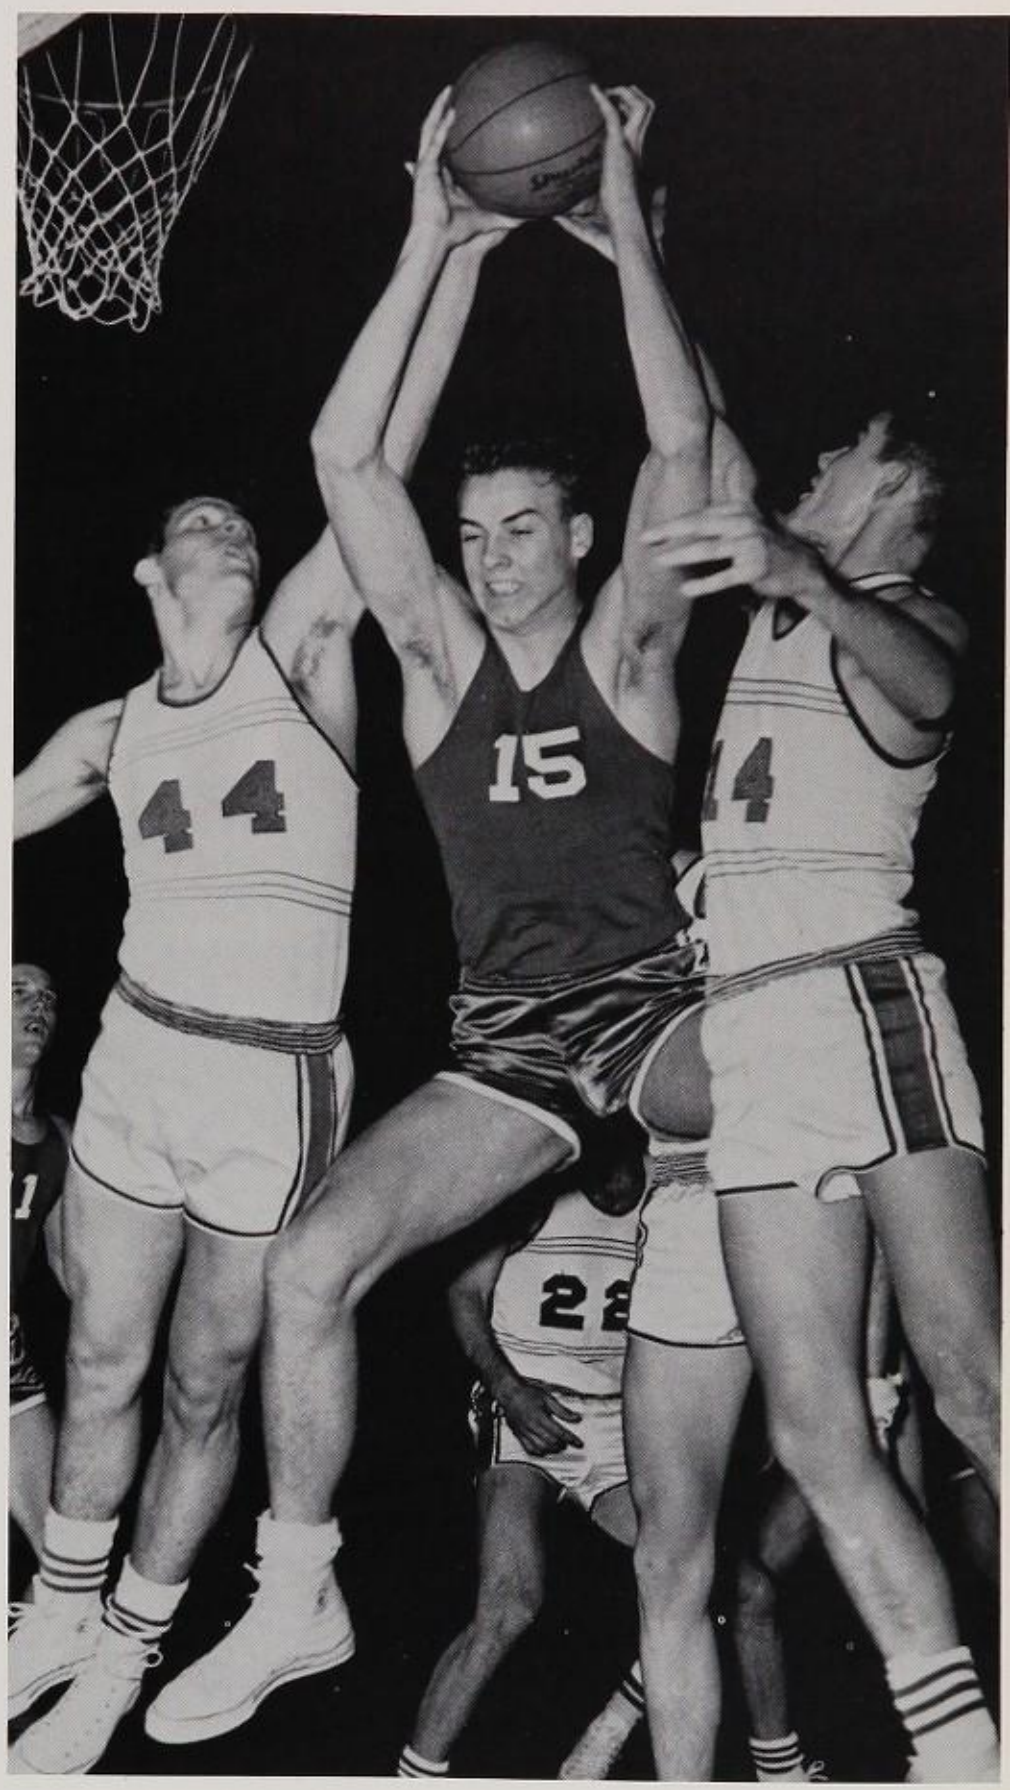
As the final buzzer draws near and the pressure builds, all eyes are on Garlen Clarabut's vital free throw.

Johnny Joe George goes up high to get off a two-pointer over that defensive Lee General as Nelms, Clarabut, and Lott swing into position to set up the play.

Lamar's leading scorer, Gary Zeller, gets one blocked this time. Johnny Joe George and Garlen Clarabut have to change direction quickly and get back down court to prevent the Mustangs from turning the tables on them.



Garlen Clarabut and Jim Gilley put together a tremendous defense on the city's leading scorer, Ken Spain of Austin. Lamar almost pulled the rug out from under this team which had won thirty straight contests.



Dave McNeil and Dirk Bennett seem to be pointing out the fact that they were this year's basketball managers.

Hopefuls for the Future

Although neither the Junior Varsity nor the Sophomore teams finished number one in Zone contention, their performances and the fighting spirit that they maintained are certainly commendable to the boys themselves and to their respective coaches, Coach Lynch of the Junior Varsity and Coach Wright of the Sophomore teams. Both teams proved to be real competitors, doing well against the opposition in this area. The experience gained will prove nothing but beneficial to the boys as they move up to Varsity positions in the forthcoming seasons. From this great storehouse of talent, Lamar's hopes for future successes in basketball look very good.

Lamar's Cindermen

Coach Bill McGee has another fine track team this year. With at least a dozen one- and two-year lettermen returning, the boys coming up from last year's fine Junior Varsity squad, plus a big crop of Sophomore talent, Lamar should have great depth in every event including the field events. Last year the team suffered in this category, so it has been to the team's benefit to see its weightmen, broad jumpers, and high jumpers come around and develop into real competitors this year under Coach Jim Hart. Lamar is also expected to do well in the sprints and be strong in the various relays, and, if our fine cross country team can offer any indication, we should also do well in the distance events. As the Orenda goes to press, this tribe of trackmen and their coaches look optimistically toward the coming season.

High jumper Tom McDugald clears the bar with ease, showing off the form that made him one of the top two high jumpers in the city last year. Even better things are expected of him this season.

Carl Skipper, Bill Usher, and Ken Kapelka obviously have the long legs necessary to be good hurdlers, exemplified here by the way in which they dwarf this high hurdle. This threesome is expected to finish consistently up with the winners this season.

Much will come to be expected of these boys who are Lamar's prime prospects in the sprints. Usher, Wheless, Thompson, and Scott will compose the sprint relay.

Weightmen Mims, Elkins, Bryan, Trapp, and Zabak observe David Price's exhibition of good shot putting form and, in the interests of safety, stand clear of falling goal posts.

Lamar's hope for success in the distance races will be invested in these boys: (Standing) Sadler, Roe, Bennett, Suttles, J. Gregory (Kneeling) T. Gregory, Miller, Schneringer, Bertch, and Mayer.

This year's mile relay will be made up of four of these boys: Thompson, Craig, Mayer, Usher, and Olvey.

Coach McGee points out the position of the shoulder in the starting blocks on sprinter Bill Wheeless while observing dash men Price, Vogt, Bailes, Thompson, Henry, and Scott take in what is said.

Broad Jumpers Greene and LaMotta take in Bob Jenell's demonstration of good jumping form.

Weightmen Kelsey, McGaw, Mims, Price, Knowlton, Bryan, and Elkins look on as Coach Hart demonstrates the important position of the free arm when hurling the discus on big Paul Trapp.

Cross Country

This past fall our cross-country team proved to be another in the line of traditionally excellent ones Lamar has produced. But its success seems to point out even greater success for the school along this line, for only three of the nine boys on the squad will graduate and not return to run next season. Manley Roe, a sophomore, headlined the team. He became the Gulf Coast champion in cross-country at the State Meet in Austin, bettering the old school record in the two-mile race. Even bigger things are expected of him and of this well-conditioned squad in the forthcoming season.

Cross-countrymen Mayer, Roe, Sadler, T. Gregory, Schneringer, Bennett, Bertch, and J. Gregory get set for the two-mile jaunt.

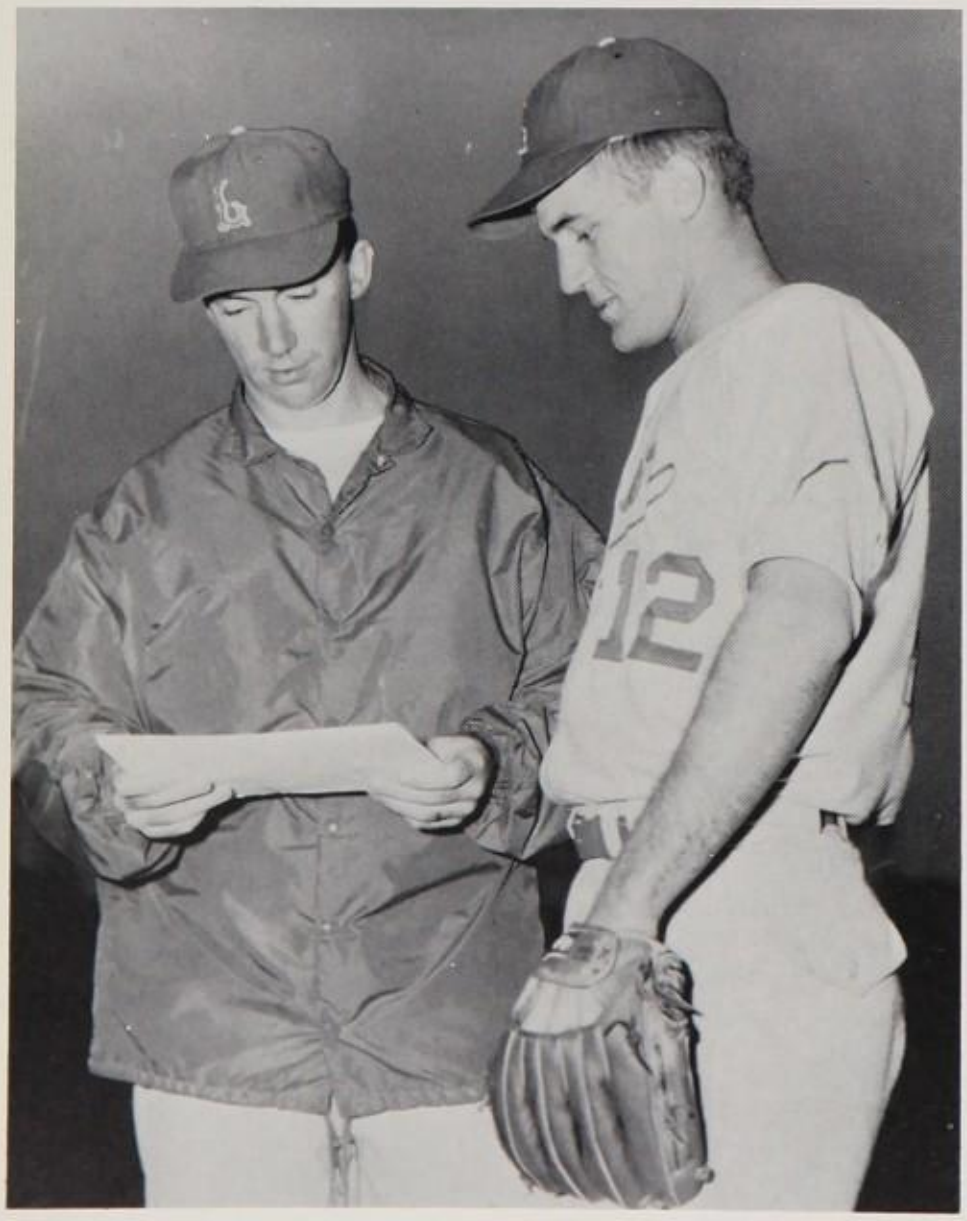
Shortstop Johnny Joe George and Second Baseman Johnny Brock put together a very effective combination, one that will keep second base adequately defended this year.

"Big League" Redskins Hot on the Diamond



All-city Captain Johnny Joe George looks over the schedule ahead of the Indians with Coach Stuart.

The outlook for this baseball season seems very bright for Coach Gary Stuart and his team. The squad this year is a large, hard-working group, very serious about their sport. With a majority of last year's starters returning to action led by their All City Captain Johnny Joe George, this ball club should find no particular difficulties with any of the opposition from this area. Johnny Joe's great potential has been broadly recognized. Professional scouts will be following him closely this year. With the great depth this team possesses, it should be strong in all respects, especially, it seems, in the pitching department. Stan Ludwick and Mike Teague will both be back, each with two years of Varsity experience behind them. In addition to their talent Lamar recently came into one of the best young pitching prospects in the city in Hugh Hamilton. By no means alone, these boys will be backed up by a very quick, accurate infield and a long-armed crop of outfielders.

A strong Redskin infield will be maintained this season by (Front row) Mike Teague, Johnny Brock, David Brown, (Back row) Jack Vaughan, Bob Goff, Corby Robertson, and Johnny Joe Goerge. This quick, accurate defense will have much to do with the success of this team.

The heart of any baseball team is centered around its pitching staff. Our school is fortunate in that we have such depth and talent in this area with pitchers like Doug Pettit, Stan Ludwick, Hugh Hamilton, Mike Teague, Chuck Tait, and Frank Terry.

Backing up the pitchers will be catchers Lawrence Cook and Garlen Clarabut.

No Problem in Depth Here

The Putter, Caddie

Edward Fielder, Lee Roy Garrett, and Steve Everts look on as Jack Vaughan displays his superior skill on the greens. These boys comprised Lamar's winning first flight in competition.

After possessing the District Championship team last year, Coach Donald Longcope had the misfortune of graduating most of his team. With only three returning lettermen back in action much will be expected from the new sophomore talent that has recently come out for the squad. The team was fortunate to have the assistance of professional Lee Roy Garrett, who donated his driving range facilities for the improvement of the team, in addition to the coaching skill of Mr. Longcope.

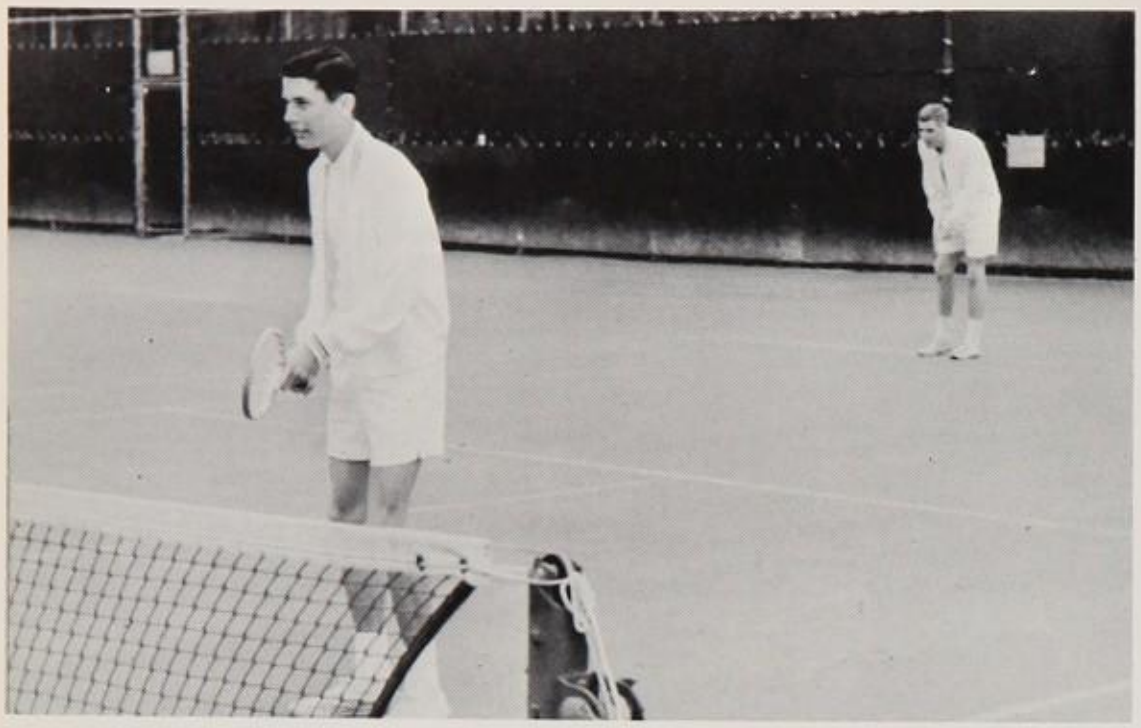
Redskin Racketeers



Ronnie Doyle and Bill Kurtz compose a mighty effective doubles team. These boys, already doing well in the big tournaments, have still another season of tennis at Lamar.

The suggestion of Lamar brings many things to mind. Generally associated with the name have been the traditionally outstanding tennis teams the school has produced. This year's squad will most likely follow in the footsteps of the school's finest. Possessing one of the top contenders for the State Singles Championship this year, the former State Champ, Lamar Roemer, and half of last year's third-place doubles team in the form of Ashley Smith should prove to be a great asset to Coach Brad Gentry and his squad. These two boys will be most capably backed by a small but talented group of hard-practicing Redskins who should have no trouble in winning the City Championship for Lamar, an honor Lamar has held ever since anyone can remember.

Squad members Dan Hedges, Bill Kurtz, Ronnie Doyle, Tommy Walsh, and Lamar Roemer prepare to descend to the courts at the beginning of a daily practice.

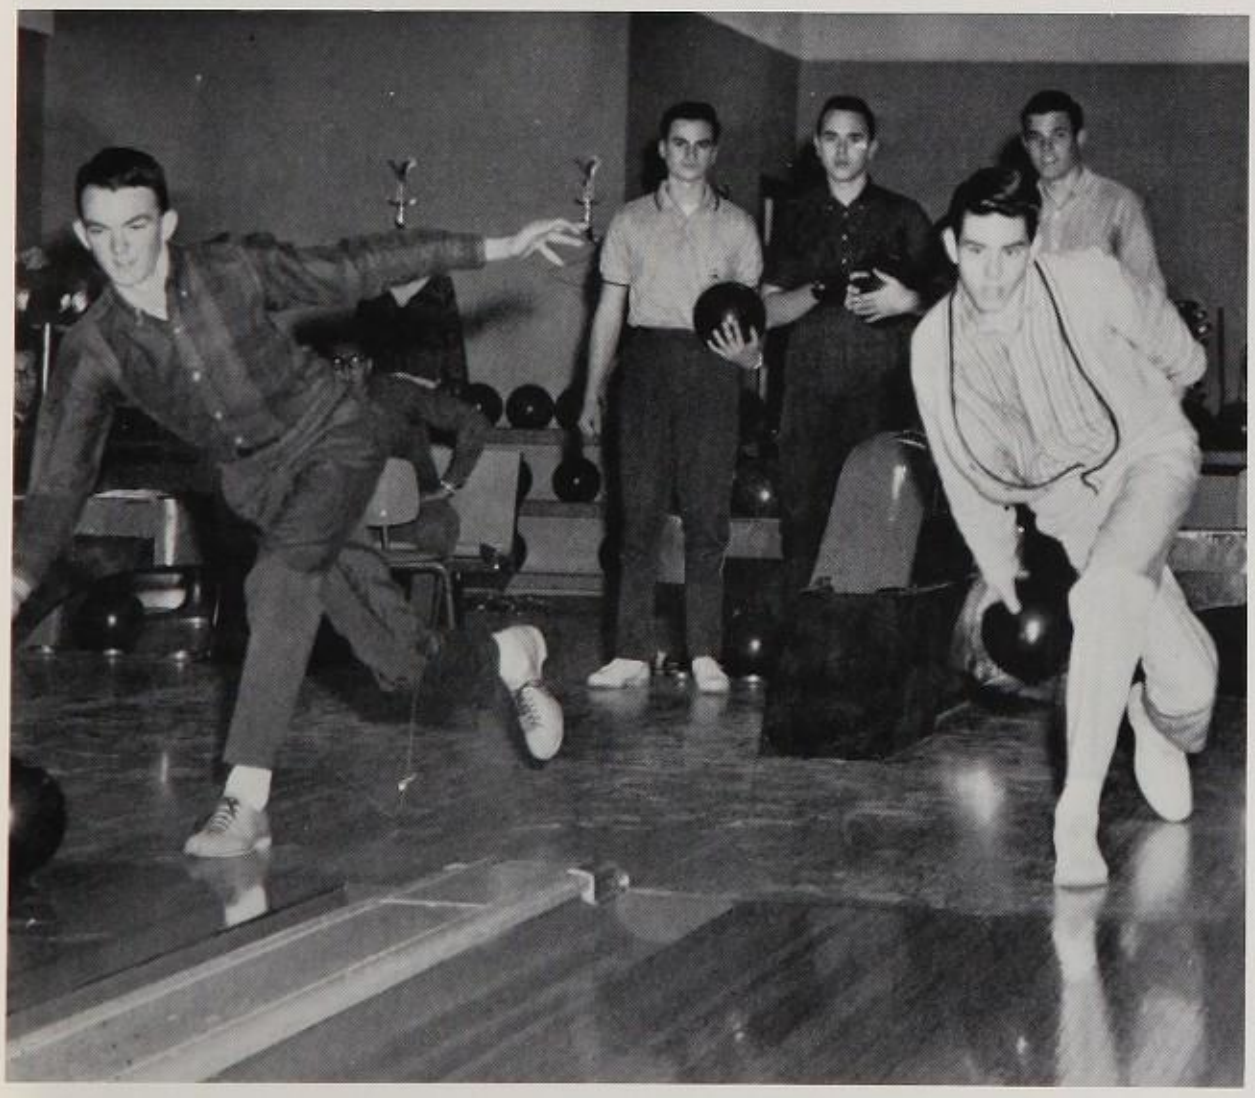
Mowing Down Those Pins



Lamar's first string of pin-men Bill Erwin, Stuart Fayner, Bob Sohns, Ray Powell and Phil Kidwell get in some of that practice that makes perfect during one of their regular after-school sessions.

A big turn-out of hard-practicing bowlers seems to indicate a bright future for Coach Louis Dee and his bowling program this year. A much-improved squad is expected to do well with the competition in this area. The members of this year's first team all sport averages well up in the 160's and 170's.

Although the Lamar Swimming squad graduated six All-Stater's from last year's team together with one All-American, it can still be expected to turn in a record as impressive as those from past seasons, for this team has a tremendous tradition to uphold. For sixteen of the past eighteen seasons Lamar has won the City Championship in swimming. Eight determined, returning lettermen together with a wealth of new talent are expected to finish among the top teams in Texas at the State Meet in March. This particular team has been strongest in the medley and free-sprint relays events, and also has some boys doing particularly well in the individual events. This combination is expected to be the key to another successful year for Coach Joe Euresti and his team.

Coach Joe Euresti talks over the coming season with this year's swim team captains—Kester Denman, Richard Santamaria and Dana Weaver.

Sophomores Bob Jones, Jerry Deutsch, Eddie Schoijet, Richard Gollwitzer and Mike Aillet take a breather after a few warm-up laps. As sophomores they have already seen action in varsity meets. These boys can look forward to two future seasons as varsity swimmers.

Cherokee

Cherokee is the only organization of which every girl at Lamar is a member. It provides an excellent opportunity to improve one's skill in sports, as well as to have a good time.

Awards for outstanding participation are presented each spring at the Cherokee Awards Program. The three officers and nine heads of the tournaments, as well as the teams, receive letters. A Cherokee Rose is given to each girl who has entered five sports throughout the entire year. Bracelets are given to the three girls who earned the most points out of all three grades for the year, and to the senior girl who earned the most points throughout her three years at Lamar. The highest award in Cherokee is the Ideal Girl Award.

We'll have no confusion; we are out here to win this game!

Nancy Grubbs, Cherokee vice-president, displays some of the many trophies and souvenirs of the girls' gym office.

All Thumbs!

"You know, this couldn't be the way it's done," says frustrated Stephanie Sokolosky, Cherokee secretary, during the slight intermission while Anne Riegel, one of the Cherokee bowling winners with Geri Allen, Donna DuPree and Joan Tritico, bowls.

Not That You Won or Lost —

The winning smiles of Dalia Stokes, Susan Donoghue, Barbara Stiranka, Clay Walker, Becky Pinckard, Becky Dent, Kathy Maer and Mary Dee Neal take the place of their flat feet and crazy toes after winning the Cherokee basketball tournament.

But How You Played the Game

"You can see how we were able to win," comments the winning Cherokee volleyball team composed of Becky Dent, Martha Huebel, Kathy Belton, Betsy Mason, Carter Kerr, Sue Simmons and Beverly Emerson.

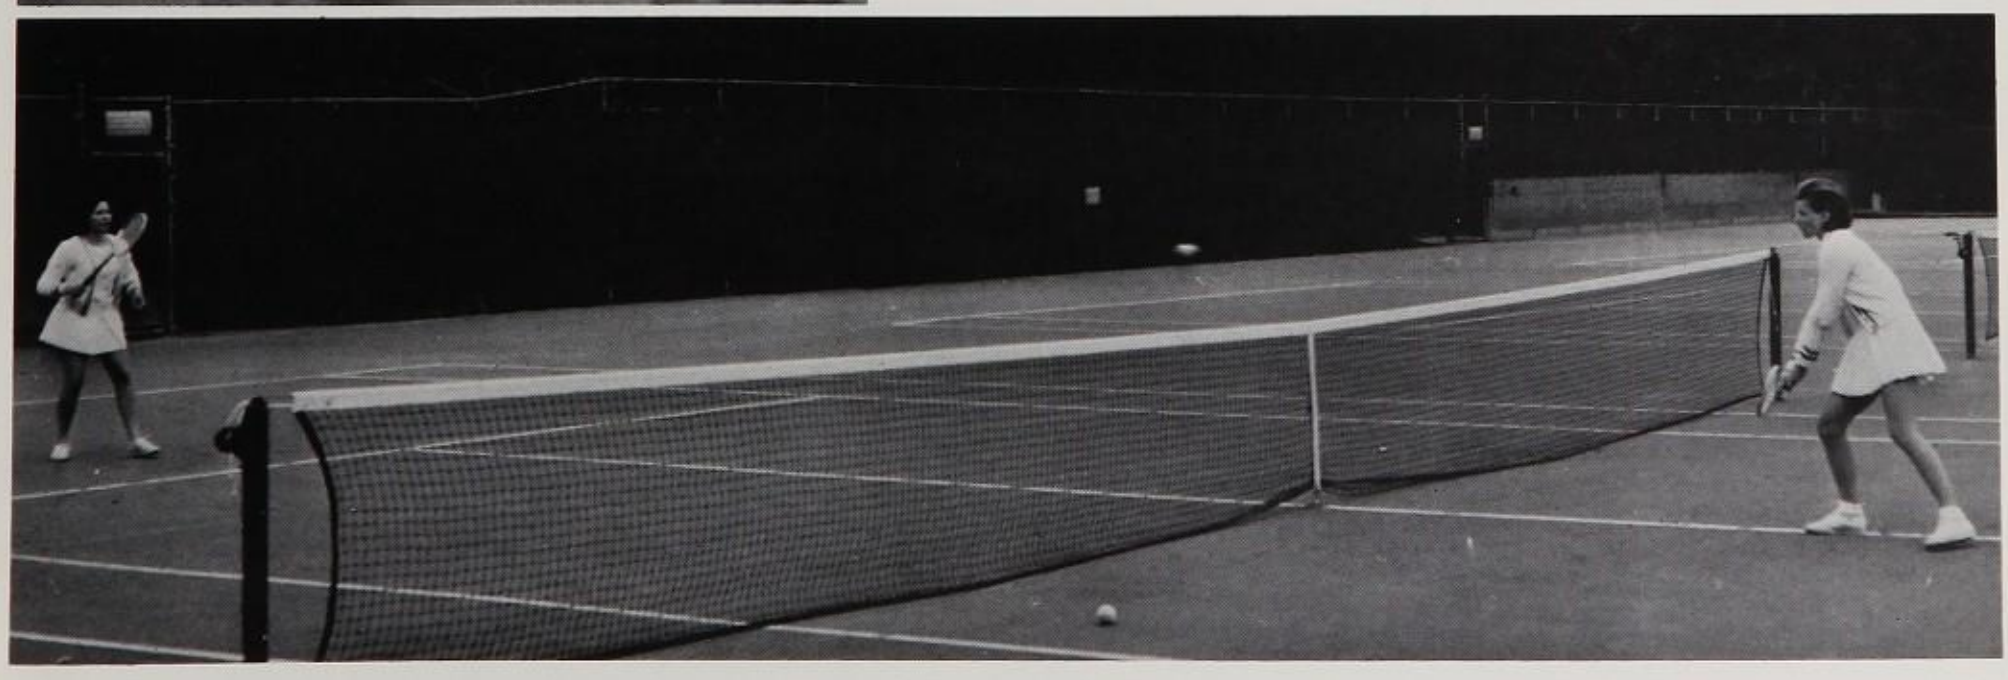
If Ceci Klep can have the advantage of twelve feet and the protection of Pinkie Pollard and Carol Rulfs, then Sally Richardson seems to see nothing unreasonable in her comeback.

Out!

"How's that for a slam?" gloats Kathy McDowell after the coup de grâce when she and Lyn Allison play Kay Hankinson and Carolyn Hamilton.

Anyone for Tennis?

"Easy now, we're on our last leg," Gail Ostin reminds Kitty Russel after her victorious leap over the net to make the traditional handshake with Joan and Joyce Crook.



Maryann O'Conner's beautiful net game was her greatest weapon against Barbara Kennedy in winning the Cherokee tennis tournament.

Powder Puff Tennis?

"There are some things I am more adept at," confesses Gary Craig after Susan Kolius and he are defeated at the hands of Dirk Bennett and Sally Bartow, the winning pair of the Cherokee senior badminton doubles.

Carol Muckley and Barbara Mendell go out for a more serious sport, badminton.

Lady Choreographers

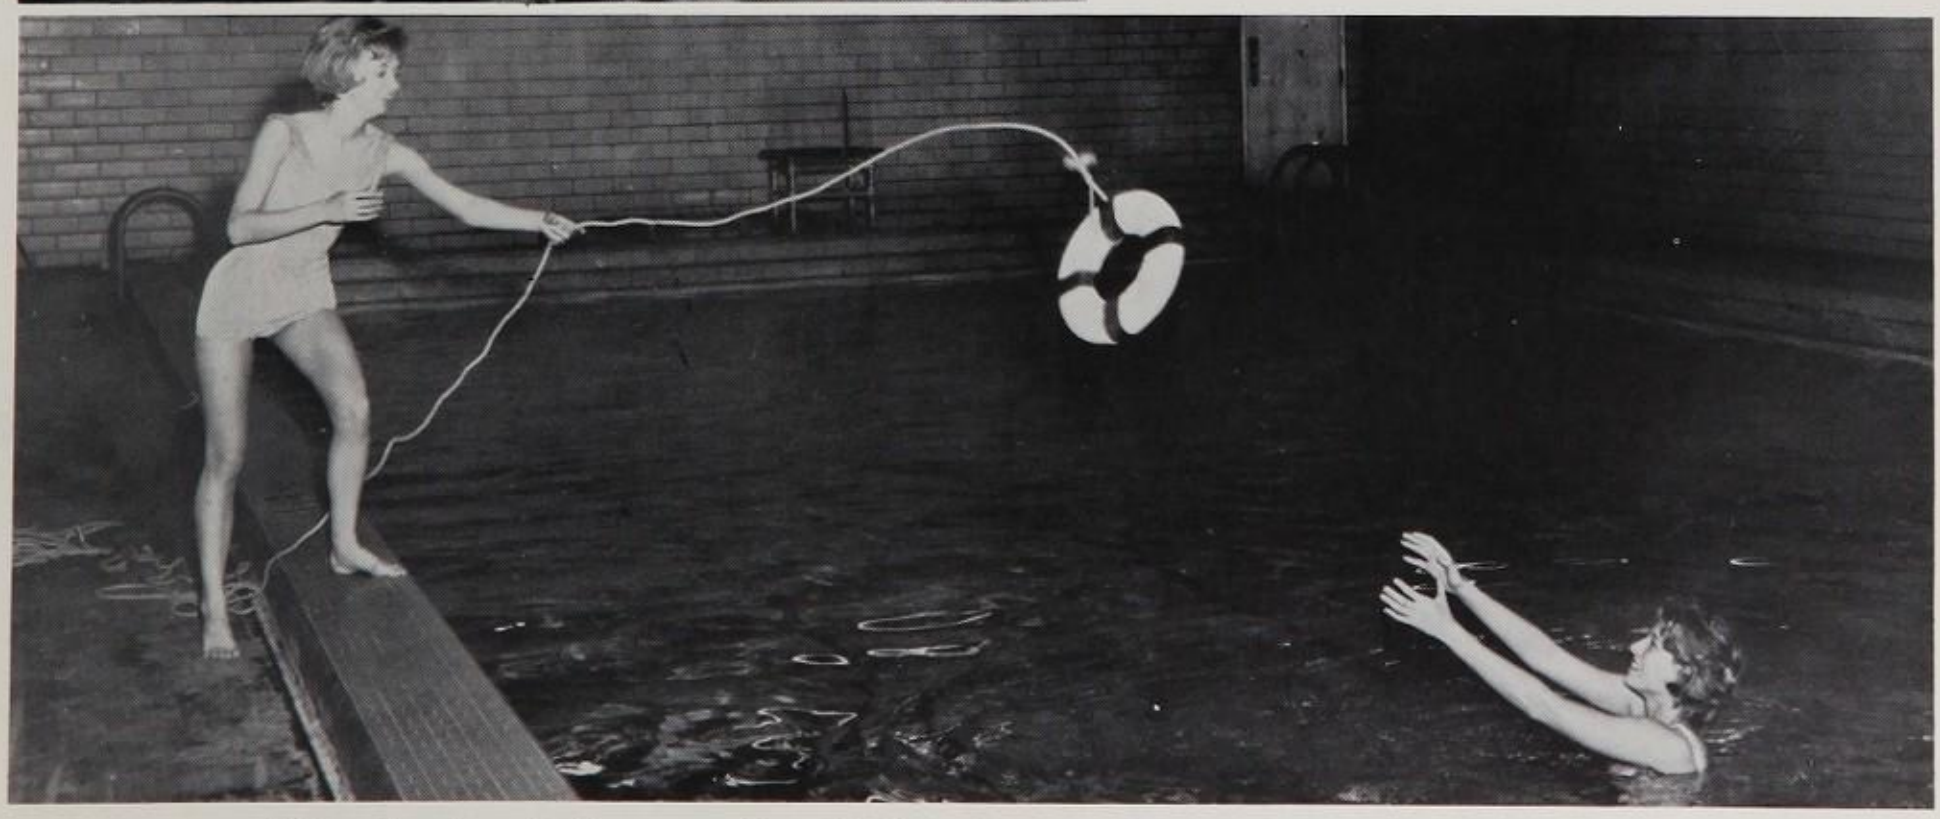
"Nobody understands us." Charlene Lusk, Kris Haynsworth and Candy Tovar pose as book-worms. Nancy Grubbs and Belle Drye lead Dotty Joost, Diann Driver, Nancy Neil, Kathy Hopkins and Anabeth Golemon in their graceful poses (with some exceptions). Other modern dance members are Laura Overton, Martha Pawley, Carol Sama, Lyn Derrick, Margaret Lewis, Terry Tunks, Linda Tish, Linda Bates, Nancy Fowler and Nancy Barnhill, who form a background of black.

Time Out!

"Which team did you say I was on?" asks puzzled Karen Parks, standing in the midst of her team members Martha Locke, Alice Wightman, Marcia Sanders, Karen Kaase and Kaye Parks.

How's the Water?

Completely composed, Betty Frost looks on while her "Muddy Duck" friend Carol Muckley takes an enthusiastic plunge and Ruthie Skelley follows not so willingly but with a little prodding from Missy McCullough and Mary Ann Muckley.



"Help! I'm drowning," screams Carol Rulfs to Lucinda Cruse as Carol works for a new record.

Making up an outstanding team are these seniors: Carol Rulfs, Martha Pawley, Lucinda Cruse, Mary Ann Muckley and Cathy Taylor, with junior Margaret Anderson.

Neither rain nor sleet nor snow (?) will prevent the tennis squad from practicing, even if they have to move indoors. The soaked squad members are Bess Baker, Carter Kerr, Mallory Taylor, Barbara Mendell, Nancy Singleton, Ronnie Wright, Ryland Safford, Maryann O'Conner, June Bourgeois, Barbara Kennedy, Adele Perry, Barbara Cook, Miss Lester, Missy McCullough and Vicki Wright.

Tennis

It is the critical part of the game as Dasha Jitkoff, Vicki Wright and Barbara Mendell look on with concern for Ronnie Wright's next move.

With the reassurance of Barbara Cook, Sarah Mendell returns a low net shot against strong opponents, Barbara Kennedy and Maryann O'Conner.

Administration

Through its most highly valued asset, its faculty, Lamar throws open the doors to "education" in the fullest sense of the word. Leading his students into the realms of academic challenge, the faculty member arouses the student's sometimes - dormant mind to vital activity. Asking searching or disturbing questions, the teacher encourages deep thought and individual discovery. Answering others, he satisfies the hunger of a curious mind. And always anxious to share whatever wisdom life has brought to him, he guides the student towards high ideals and superior achievement. Through the leadership of the faculty—teachers, counselors, and administrators—the Lamar student finds intellectual integrity.

Meeting the challenge of today's scientifically oriented world, Lamar offers extensive opportunities to the Atomic Age student. The physical and natural sciences are represented by courses in biology, chemistry, and physics. Physiology, a one-semester course, is an advanced biology study. Familiar to most juniors and seniors is the chemistry building, constructed in 1958 solely for that department's use. It contains three classrooms, two laboratories, and a special projects lab. Four other laboratories in the main building are used by the other science classes. Closely integrated with the science department, mathematics is one of Lamar's most thorough departments. Offering courses in plane and solid geometry, algebra, trigonometry, elementary analysis, commercial math, and for the advanced students, analytical geometry and calculus, Lamar meets the challenge of the Age of Technology.

Sensitivity to the Arts . . .

A thorough knowledge of the fine arts is the mark of a cultured and well-educated person. It is therefore appropriate that at Lamar this department is emphasized. The music department is one of the most outstanding in the state, with three top choruses, two bands, and an orchestra. Through numerous school programs, this department helps the entire student body learn greater music appreciation. Artistic students develop their talents in the crafts rooms, producing excellent and often prize-winning painting and sculpture. Through the drama and speech classes, students learn the valuable art of effective oral self-expression.

Learning From the Past

With approximately 17,000 books, the library is the key that opens the door to the discovery and understanding of the world's great ideas. Through its social science department, Lamar stresses the development of the great civilizations and philosophies of the past and our relationships to one another in the culture of today. The courses offered are world history, American history, civics and economics, and English history. Through the highly developed English department, students not only become familiarized with the great literary movements and with noted authors, but also learn better to express their own ideas. Four years of English are required. Through the journalism class and the new creative writing class, students polish their style.

Co-ordination of Mind and Body

As both a welcome change from purely mental exertion and a necessity as well, physical education is Lamar's most enthusiastically supported department. Teaching students to co-ordinate their concentration with their body's activities is one of the physical education department's valuable functions. Instruction, not only in sports, but also in health and in first aid is this department's responsibility. ROTC trains the future officers of the military world. Extra-curricularly, physical education is extensively represented by the girls' Cherokee intramurals and city teams, and by the boys' team sports for interscholastic competition.

Practical Proficiency

Dedicated to increasing manual skills for vocational ability, this department works to prepare its students for the jobs that lie ahead. For the girl, classes in sewing and foods help prepare her for a future as a homemaker. Typing and shorthand are invaluable skills for the secretary-to-be. For the boys, two shops with precision tools offer opportunities for skilled craftsmanship. In both woodshop and metal shop, young men learn to bring out the beauty and usefulness of nature's raw materials. The future architect can usually be found bending over his mechanical drawing board, getting valuable training and practice for a demanding career.

The Struggle to Communicate

The ability to communicate effectively his ideas and feelings is one of the abilities which distinguish man from other members of the animal kingdom. The outstanding language department at Lamar aims at enabling him to communicate with members of cultures other than his own. Instruction in language is offered through the fourth year in Spanish, French, and Latin. Introductory as well as more advanced study is offered not only in these three languages, but in German and just recently in Russian as well. Understanding the need for bilingual ability in our shrinking world, the school board requires the student to participate in at least two years of language study.

Classes

Every classroom offers an open door to knowledge to the Lamar student. With the aspiration of "reaching for the stars," the student seeks wisdom and understanding. The student is more than a natural resource; he is the lifeblood of the nation. Not content with mere existence, he reaches out for something finer —a chance to contribute to his society, a chance to add to the world's resources rather than to deplete them. Through achievement in these most important years, he prepares himself to fulfill these dreams. The search does not end when he leaves the doorways of Lamar. Stepping through them, he enters the world, a finer and nobler person.

"Doorways of Lamar"

Final copy sheets ready for shipment and last minute preparations being the order for the day, I would like to take this opportunity to extend my deepest appreciation to all of those people who made this Orenda possible and to spotlight certain activities not included because of early publication dates.

This year marked the retirement of a partnership which has made the Orenda an annual of superior ratings for the past twenty-six years. Retiring from their positions of devoted service to Lamar, its annual publication and its student body, Miss Drew Black Staggs and Miss Helen Weinberg have made a place for themselves which will live on in the hearts and memories of Lamar alumni for many years to come. Commanding the sponsorship with the diligent assistance of Mr. Terry Smart, Mrs. Iris Loep has won the respect and admiration of every staff member. Sponsoring the yearbook is a rugged undertaking and Mrs. Loep has done an excellent job for which I, speaking for the entire staff, cannot thank her sufficiently. In addition there are many other people I would like to thank: Mr. Costlow, our principal; Mr. Wheeler, our assistant principal; Jerry Converse and the Student Council, for their unyielding help on subscriptions and pictures; our professional photographers—Mr. J. P. Crowe, Kay Marvin Studios, and Roulande Studios; our student photographers, Charles Blanton and Evelyn Crawford; our Taylor Publishing Company representatives, Mr. Martin Hamilton and Mr. Deon Priest; and in particular Mike Dupre, for his fine artwork. We would once again like to say thank you to the faculty of Lamar for their ever-present understanding.

Mrs. Ruth Denney is preparing her drama department for their production of "The Wizard of Oz," and it looks as though we can safely predict another success chalked up for the drama department. The track, tennis, and swimming teams are showing great promise for successful seasons with many of last year's lettermen back. As usual, everyone is looking forward to the highlight of Lamar's social season, the May Fete.

In conclusion I would like to thank you, the student body, for your fine support of the Orenda and I hope that in years to come you may glance through your annual and once again pass through "the Doorways of Lamar."
